Von Papen Still Retains Post As Vice Chancellor

Mystery In Fate Of Some Of Leaders Will Probably Never Be Cleared

BERLIN, July 5.—Baron Franz von Papen, aristocrat, junker conservative, will continue in the anomalous position of vice chancellor of the government which raided his office, killed his adjutant and arrested his secretary and one of his staff, it became evident today.

To a reporter who interviewed him in the Vice Chancellery opposite the Tiergarten, Berlin's Central park, the building where Herbert von Bose, his aide, was shot and killed, he said, "I am still vice chancellor of Germany and commissioner of the Saar."

Asked whether his resignation would be accepted he said, "It is possible that with the return of Hitler from Neudeck where he went to see the president that that angle may be cleared up."

Von Papen Remains
Hitler has returned and Von Papen remains in office. "That angle" has evidently been "cleared up." However there were intimations that Von Papen might take an extended leave of absence, and that he might change his position from vice chancellor to minister without portfolio to be succeeded in the vice chancellery by the Prussian Premier, Wilhelm Goering.

But it appeared likely the continuation of the Hitler government would have its aristocratic, conservative (Continued on Page Five)

PANEWC OBSERVES

Plenty of fireworks were used to celebrate the Fourth on the outskirts of the city on Wednesday. There is no restriction on sale or use of fireworks in the county, outside the city limits.

There was hardly a picnic spot in this entire district on the Fourth that was not in use. Many stretches of woodland that are not ordinarily picnic places were being used by parties for enjoying a lunch in the open yesterday.

Workers have laid the top on the remainder of the Leesburg-Volant road, and this end of the highway was closed yesterday. The new route will be open in completed form in a short time, it is indicated. This is a Pinchot type of road, extending from Volant to Leesburg. There is still about half a mile of dirt road between the end of the concrete and the new Pinchot road that should be improved. There is little logic in leaving this unpaved strip between the two sections of the improved road.

There was exceptionally heavy traffic on the highways on the Fourth, and accidents were quite numerous. One traffic crash resulted in a fatality and a considerable number of persons were sent to hospitals.

Several farmers were noted at work cutting hay yesterday, apparently not taking time out for celebration of the Fourth.

REFUSES NEW TRIAL TO WOMAN RECENTLY SAVED FROM EXECUTION

(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., July 5.—Mrs. Anna Antonio, twice saved from the electric chair by Governor Herbert H. M. Lehman, today was denied a new trial by County Judge Earl H. Gallup.

Mrs. Antonio, mother of three small children, was convicted with Vincent Saetta and Sam Faraci for the murder of her husband. The trio were to have died last Thursday night but the execution was postponed by Governor Lehman until next week when Saetta, in an eleventh hour statement, attempted to absolve Mrs. Antonio of complicity in the murder.

Daniel H. Prior, counsel for Mrs. Antonio, based his motion for a new trial on Saetta's statement. Prior indicated he would appeal from Judge Gallup's decision to higher courts, if such a step could be taken this week.

Application for the new trial was opposed by District Attorney John T. Delaney. He insisted that Saetta made the eleventh hour statement only as a means of delaying his own execution.

Unless Governor Lehman or the higher courts intervene Mrs. Antonio and the two men will be executed one week from tonight.

Lawyers said that if Prior filed an appeal with the court of appeals, which is now in recess until October 1, such action would automatically stay the execution of Mrs. Antonio until after the highest state court had passed on the case.

Twelve Drown Over Fourth In Pennsylvania

Several Hundred Treated For Injuries Result Of Celebrations

TOLL IS HEAVY IN PHILADELPHIA

Most Drownings Due To Bathers Being Overcome While In Swimming

By International News Service
Fireworks and drownings joined hands today to dim some of the glamor and happiness attendant to Pennsylvania's commemoration of the "glorious Fourth."

Twelve drownings, and one accidental shooting in addition to approximately 50 persons being treated for injuries received from fireworks was the price the commonwealth paid for celebrating the 158th anniversary of Independence Day.

Many of those injured were in a serious condition at hospitals throughout the state, leaving the fear that the death toll may rise. While a boiling sun beat down upon it, western Pennsylvania celebrated the Fourth in a glorious manner, but the glamor of it all was marred by misfortune.

At New Castle Charles Aslanis, 35, was accidentally shot to death when a friend attempted to remove a cartridge from Aslanis's gun.

Drownings Occur
While the mercury soared, thousands turned to swimming pools and streams for relief. Charles Cunningham, 61, Pittsburgh, died from heat prostration and alcoholism, according to a coroner's report. Seized with cramps while swimming in the Allegheny river, Thomas Lubanovic, 14, Wilkins township, was drowned.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 5.—They say it takes a big man to admit he is wrong. Well here is where I become a giant. I said yesterday that the Republicans made their campaign speech when the whole U. S. was tuned in on Germany, or Amos and Andy, and that nobody heard it. But by golly I was wrong. From some of the criticism I read of it from the Democrats, they must have all been listening.

I had no idea they were even paying any attention to the Republicans. Get these Democrats on the defense, and they are not so hot.

A Democrat is a better fault finder than he is an explainer. So there is liable to be some excitement at this fall's election year.

Auto Injuries Prove Fatal To Edensburg Man

Dies In Jameson Memorial Hospital Of Broken Neck Yesterday

CAR HITS POLE ON WILMINGTON ROAD

Dwight Smith, aged 27 years, of Edensburg, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 of injuries sustained at 1:15 on the morning of the Fourth, when the machine in which he was riding, driven by John W. Shuler, Jr., of 1313 West Washington street, skidded into a telephone pole near Walmo, on the Wilmington road, while traveling at a high rate of speed. Smith suffered a broken neck.

According to the story told Coroner Orville Potter, Smith and Shuler, with two young women, were returning from Sharon, where they had spent the evening.

Blinded by Another Car
As they neared Walmo Shuler stated that he was blinded by the lights of another car, causing the machine to go off the road. In attempting to get back onto the road, the car skidded into the pole, and the machine was crushed into a telephone pole.

Shuler and the young women were practically uninjured, but Smith suffered fractures of the cervical vertebra, which resulted in his death later in the day.

Corporal L. J. Lawton and Patrolman W. E. Stoops of the state highway patrol investigated the accident, along with Coroner Potter. (Continued on Page Two)

Police Report Murder Of Earl Gentry In Wisconsin Cleared Up

SLAYING DONE BY HIRED KILLER

(International News Service)
JEFFERSON, Wis., July 5.—George King, itinerant painter, was captured at Fort Atkinson, Wis., early today and confessed to the murder of Earl Gentry, former bodyguard of the Indiana, K. Klux Klan, according to Sheriff Joseph T. Lange. King, who said his real name was Carl Church, was implicated in the confession of Mrs. Carrie Gill, who according to authorities, confessed she hired King to kill Gentry, because the latter was "mean" to her, for $100.

"I did it, and I'm glad of it," Lange said King told him.

Gentry roomed at the Gill home for eight years and, according to authorities, the comely widow had become enamored of him. She resented his attentions to other women, it was revealed in letters found among the dead man's effects.

Mrs. Gill, known as the "sunshine lady" because of her sunny disposition, and her kindness, had befriended King, he told Sheriff Lange. "She was a wonderful woman," King told the sheriff. "I knew Gentry was mean to her, and I killed him to rid the community of a man."

Arms Terribly Lacerated As Huge Canine Turns On Her Tuesday Night

WAS ALONE IN ROOM WITH DOG

Mrs. Florence Trognitz, aged 68, of Sidney, Neb., is in the Jameson Memorial hospital in a serious condition, suffering from lacerations of both arms, sustained when she was attacked by a huge police dog in the home of Ivor Richards, 335 Laurel boulevard, Tuesday evening about 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Trognitz was visiting in the Richards home and was preparing to retire for the night, when the dog came into her room and got under the bed. She was afraid to get to sleep with the animal in the room with her, and attempted to get the dog out. As she reached under the bed the animal is said to have snapped at her sinking his fangs into her hand.

She went to the kitchen to bathe the wound and the dog followed her, it is said, again springing at her. Mrs. Trognitz tried to beat him off with a frying pan but the dog finally knocked her to the floor and began tearing at her arms.

Hundred And Nineteen Tonsil Operations In Month At Jameson Hospital

There may be a shrinkage in the crops in the farm belts, the drought may have cut the wheat and oats down, but tonsil crop this year is a bumper one, judging from the reports of the Jameson Memorial hospital. At least for June.

The total number of tonsil sets removed in June was 119, the report shows, which is by far the heaviest tonsillectomy total for any June since the hospital has been operating. Most of the operations were on school children whose parents wanted them attended to as soon as possible after the close of school.

July and August are expected to show heavy totals also, but will hardly approach that of June. The average for the month was better than four per day.

Hundred Fifty Killed In Nation On July Fourth

MANY STATES ADD TO HOLIDAY TOLL

Estimate More Than 5000 Persons Suffer Minor Injuries From Fireworks

(International News Service)
More than 150 persons were killed throughout the nation celebrating the Fourth of July although only a few of the fatalities were attributed to fireworks. A checkup by International News Service today recorded most of the deaths due to automobile accidents and drownings.

It was estimated that more than 5,000 persons required medical attention for injuries received from fireworks, with New York City registering 2,000 casualties.

The nation cooled off a day too late as the heat wave on the 158th Independence holiday drove many millions along the open road and to the beaches.

Many of the injuries from fireworks resulted from an epidemic of grim prankishness—the habit of throwing lighted firecrackers into passing automobiles.

In New England
In New York City, there were seven deaths, four from motor accidents and three from drownings.

There were 14 persons killed in upper New England, six from drowning. Five in auto accidents and one death apiece from accidental shooting, fire works and the heat.

In Connecticut there were seven killed in auto crashes; 12 were drowned; and one was accidentally shot. Five hundred persons were (Continued on Page Two)

McElroy Cottage Burns To Ground On Wednesday; Gasoline Stove Explodes

Cottage of John McElroy, 1606 Huron avenue, this city, which was one of the most modern in Lawrence county, was completely destroyed by flames at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. A gasoline stove exploded, setting the cottage afire. The cottage was located along the Neshaunock creek on the East Brook-Neshaunock Falls road, about two miles from Lakewood. The several thousand dollars loss is partly covered by insurance.

According to reports the cottage was occupied by William Fox and Walter Gross and families. They had gone out of the building, it is said, and it was during their absence that the fire started. Several city firemen were in the vicinity, but like Messrs. Gross and Fox were unable to save the building or contents.

The total number of tonsil sets removed in June was 119 the reports show, which is by far the heaviest tonsillectomy total for any June since the hospital has been operating. Most of the operations were on school children whose parents wanted them attended to as soon as possible after the close of school.

July and August are expected to show heavy totals also but will hardly approach that of June. The average for the month was better than four per day.

Estimate More Than 5000 Persons Suffer Minor Injuries From Fireworks

(International News Service)
More than 150 persons were killed throughout the nation celebrating the Fourth of July although only a few of the fatalities were attributed to fireworks.

A checkup by International News Service today recorded most of the deaths due to automobile accidents and drowning.

It was estimated that more than 5,000 persons required medical attention for injuries received from fireworks, with New York City registering 2,600 casualties.

The nation cooled off a day too late as the heat wave on the 15th Independence holiday drove many millions along the open road and to the beaches.

Many of the injuries from firecrackers resulted from an epidemic of grim prankishness—the habit of throwing lighted firecrackers into passing automobiles.

In New York City, there were seven deaths, four from motor accidents and three from drowning. There were 14 persons killed in upper New England, six from drowning. Five in auto accidents and one death apiece from accidental shooting, fire works and the heat.

In Connecticut there were seven deaths.

In Pennsylvania, 13 persons were killed in auto crashes; 12 were drowned; and one was accidentally shot. Five hundred persons were (Continued on Page Two)

McElroy Cottage Burns To Ground On Wednesday; Gasoline Stove Explodes

Cottage of John McElroy, 1606 Huron avenue, this city, which was one of the most modern in Lawrence county, was completely destroyed by flames at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. A gasoline stove exploded, setting the cottage afire. The cottage was located along the Neshaunock creek on the East Brook-Neshaunock Falls road, about two miles from Lakewood. The several thousand dollars loss is partly covered by insurance.

According to reports the cottage was occupied by William Fox and Walter Gross and families. They had gone out of the building, it is said, and it was during their absence that the fire started. Several city firemen were in the vicinity, but like Messrs. Gross and Fox were unable to save the building or contents.

There's a flock of burns from the glorious Fourth and some of them caused by the sun and a lot of them caused by what has been called by those who enjoy it, fun. From the sizzle and spark and the loud booming bang of the cracker they thought wasn't lit, so the bandages seen on the arms of the youth's were probably caused by just it. The swimmer is red as a fresh pickled beet with shoulders and nose mighty sore, with the sweet young things squirming and giggling round and hoping next week to get more. ## PA NEW C OBSERVES

Plenty of fireworks were used to celebrate the Fourth on the outskirts of the city on Wednesday. There is no restriction on sale or use of fireworks in the county, outside the city limits.

There was hardly a picnic spot in this entire district on the Fourth that was not in use. Many stretches of woodland that are not ordinarily picnic places were being used by parties for enjoying a lunch in the open yesterday.

Workmen have laid the top on the remainder of the Leesburg-Volant road, and this end of the highway was closed yesterday. The new route will be open in completed form in a short time, it is indicated. This is a Pinchot type of road, extending from Volant to Leesburg. There is still about half a mile of dirt road between the end of the concrete and the new Pinchot road that should be improved. There is little logic in leaving this unpaved strip between the two sections of the improved road.

There was exceptionally heavy traffic on the highways on the Fourth, and accidents were quite numerous. One traffic crash resulted in a fatality and a considerable number of persons were sent to hospitals.

Several farmers were noted at work cutting hay yesterday, apparently not taking time out for celebration of the Fourth.

BERLIN, July 5.—Baron Franz von Papen, aristocrat, junker conservative, will continue in the anomalous position of vice chancellor of the government which raided his office, killed his adjutant and arrested his secretary and one of his staff, it became evident today.

To a reporter who interviewed him in the Vice Chancellery opposite the Tiergarten Berlin's Central park, the building where Herbert von Bose, his aide, was shot and killed, he said, "I am still vice chancellor of Germany and commissioner of the Saar."

Asked whether his resignation would be accepted he said, "It is possible that with the return of Hitler from Neudeck where he went to see the president that that angle may be cleared up."

REFUSES NEW TRIAL TO WOMAN RECENTLY SAVED FROM EXECUTION

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., July 5.—Mrs. Anna Antonio, twice saved from the electric chair by Governor Herbert H. M. Lehman, today was denied a new trial by County Judge Earl H. Gallup.

Mrs. Antonio, mother of three small children, was convicted with Vincent Satta and Sam Faraci for the murder of her husband.

The trio were to have died last Thursday night but the execution was postponed by Governor Lehman until next week when Satta, in an eleventh hour statement, attempted to absolve Mrs. Antonio of complicity in the murder.

Daniel H. Prior, counsel for Mrs. Antonio, based his motion for a new trial on Satta's statement. Prior indicated he would appeal from Judge Gallup's decision to higher courts, if such a step could be taken this week.

Application for the new trial was opposed by District Attorney John T. Delaney. He insisted that Satta made the eleventh hour statement only as a means of delaying his own execution.

Unless Governor Lehman or the higher courts intervene Mrs. Antonio and the two men will be executed one week from tonight.

Lawyers said that if Prior filed an appeal with the court of appeals, which is now in recess until October 1, such action would automatically stay the execution of Mrs. Antonio until after the highest state court had passed on the case.

Twelve Drown Over Fourth In Pennsylvania

Several Hundred Treated For Injuries Result Of Celebrations

TOLL IS HEAVY IN PHILADELPHIA

Most Drownings Due To Bathers Being Overcome While In Swimming

By International News Service
Fireworks and drownings joined hands today to dim some of the glow and happiness attendant to Pennsylvania's commemoration of the "glorious Fourth."

Twelve drownings, and one accidental shooting in addition to approximately 50 persons being treated for injuries received from fireworks was the price the commonwealth paid for celebrating the 158th anniversary of Independence Day.

Many of those injured were in a serious condition at hospitals throughout the state, leaving the fear that the death toll may rise.

While a boiling sun beat down upon it, western Pennsylvania celebrated the Fourth in a glorious manner, but the glamor of it all was marked by misfortune.

At New Castle Charles Aslanis, 35, was accidentally shot to death when a friend attempted to remove a cartage from Aslanis's gun.

Drownings Occur
While the mercury soared, thousands turned to swimming pools and streams for relief. Charles Cunningham, 61, Pittsburgh, died from heat prostration and alcoholism, according to a coroner's report. Seized with cramps while swimming in the Allegheny river, Thomas Lubanovic, 14, Wilkins township, was drowned.

BORAH LAUNCHES ONE MAN CAMPAIGN

Bureaucracy Is Senator's Target

Both Parties Are Challenged—Says Issues Being Smothered

DECLARES HE'LL TAKE ISSUES TO PEOPLE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 5.—After a slashing attack on the "new deal," Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, started on a one-man campaign today to free the government of bureaucracy and business of the strange hold of monopoly.

Borah charged Democracy, as established under the constitution is being frittered away by a bureaucracy here. He said economic recovery is being frustrated by destruction of individual rights and the control of business through monopoly.

The fiery senator charged both Republican and Democratic parties seek to "smother" these issues in the forthcoming campaign. He warned both he personally will carry the issues to the people.

"The effort," said Borah, "to fasten a stranglehold system of bureaucracy upon the people generally to place producers and small business in a network of laws and rules and regulations which not only embarrass the people but aggravate their distress, I shall oppose in every way I know."

And shall during the summer and autumn, as best I may, present these matters to the people of this country and urged them to ask the leaders at Washington to loosen the grip of bureaucracy upon the daily lives and habits of the people.

Challenges Both Parties
Borah threw his challenge to both parties, though particularly to the administration, in a vigorous speech last night.

He began by recalling the struggle in 1776 "between a government of law and a government of men," he said this struggle is continuing.

He prayed for an opportunity to "retrace our steps," so "America may live her own life and preserve her principles and institutions." Any other form of government, he said, is "tyranny."

Borah recited how America entered the World war to make the world safe for Democracy. He said this venture cost America $40,000,000,000 of the taxpayer's money, besides the "dead and crippled, our twisted and insane, our wretched and twisted institutions."

"All America got out of the war," he added, "was a repudiation of the debts."

"Our departure from the policies of Washington and Jefferson in foreign affairs proved no more disappointing and disastrous to the interests of the American people," he continued, "than will be our departure from the principles embodied in the constitution in domestic affairs."

day perfect for outdoor picnic meals and swimming.

Cascade Park Crowded
Thousands crowded Cascade Park during the afternoon with the evening bringing a crowd second only to the Tin Workers picnic of last Saturday. At the time of the fireworks, ten thirty P. M., the crowd probably was 15,000 at a conservative estimate. Concessionaires reported a busy day, with the dancing pavilion crowded to capacity.

While hundreds left the city for the day, their leaving was more than compensated by the hundreds from other counties who came in to the various Slippery Rock picnic spots and to Cascade Park. The parking lot in Cascade Park showed scores of Ohio licenses, with a scattering from several other states.

The highways were veritable streams of traffic early in the day and late in the evening. There were several accidents but the amazing thing seems to be that there were not more. State Highway patrolmen were on the job from dawn to dusk checking traffic and their presence undoubtedly is responsible for the accident list being as low as it is.

It was an ideal Fourth of July. The average citizen went to bed last night feeling that he had enjoyed himself with sleep coming after the first firecracker had been exploded. The city ordinance prohibits the setting off of fireworks in the city but it takes more than a city ordinance to restrain the exuberance of small boys.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel E. Elliott, distinguished clergyman and philanthropist, died at his home on Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, on Wednesday, July 4.

Born in New Wilmington on July 19, 1863, Dr. Elliott would have been 81 years old this month. He attended the preparatory department of Westminster college, then attended the college, and also attended Westminster and Princeton seminaries.

He was graduated from Princeton seminary in 1876, and served with success Presbyterian pastorate in Frankfort Springs, Pa.; Apollo, Pa.; Pleasant, Pa. and the Mt. Washington church, Farmington, Pa.

He served as professor of economics in Hastings college, Hastings, Neb., from 1903 to 1907.

Since 1914, Dr. Elliott served as a co-trustee with the Fidelity Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, for the J. Murray Clark estate of Crafton.

Dr. Elliott was a devoted and generous friend of Westminster college. Through his generosity, Westminster was provided the beautiful four-manual pipe organ which was installed in the chapel when Old Main Memorial was built.

Dr. Elliott was also the donor of the very complete library of economics and business administration in Old Main Memorial. This is known as the Elliott library. In addition to these gifts, many others have been given by Dr. Elliott to the college within recent years, proving again and again his interest in the continued progress of the college he loved so well.

In recognition of his achievements in the ministry and in the teaching profession, and as a mark of appreciation for his services to the college, Westminster honored Dr. Elliott with the degree of doctor of laws at the commencement exercises June, 1932.

In addition to his interest in and generosity toward Westminster, Dr. Elliott was a friend of the Christian church and of the needy everywhere. Many have been the recipients of his kindly, generous ministry.

Dr. Elliott's sister, Miss Letitia Elliott, with whom he resided, is the only surviving member of the immediate family.

Funeral services will be held from the late residence on West Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in the Fairview cemetery. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

Mike Kosciy, 12 year old Jamison boy, was drowned in the Youghiogheny river while bathing near the dam at Layton. The lad known to have suffered from heart affects is believed to have been struck while alone in the waters.

Fireworks left behind an enormous list of casualties. Two children and a woman were blinded while more than 100 received treatment at Pittsburgh hospitals for burns and other injuries caused by firecrackers and explosives. The list of those injured continued to mount today and hospital authorities felt it may exceed the toll of 144 registered in 1933.

Among the tens of thousands who sought pleasure in varying diversions in the Philadelphia metropolitan area on Independence Day three lost their lives by drowning and 138 persons were injured by exploding fireworks.

Fireworks Toll Heavy
The fireworks toll was the heaviest since 1919, despite the efforts of police to make the holiday safe and sane.

William McCue, 18, who had a record of having saved three persons from drowning, was one of the victims who met a watery death. There was none to rescue the youthful hero when he was seized with a sudden attack of cramps while swimming in the Delaware river in Philadelphia. He sank to his death. Losing his footing while walking on a ledge, Emil Dose, 22 fell into the Darby river at Croydon and was drowned.

In Camden, N. J., nine year old John Matishen was wading in the Delaware river near his home when he stepped beyond his depth and met death.

The worst of the fireworks mishaps sent two year old Constance Boyle to a Philadelphia hospital where physicians despaired of saving her life. The child was watching her brother set off a cannon cracker under an old tin can. The blast hurled the can against the little girl's arm, opening an artery. Loss of blood threatened to prove fatal, doctor said.

Hospitals Kept Busy
Hospitals were kept busy attending to less serious burns and injuries inflicted by bootlegged fireworks. At least 81 such cases were treated in Philadelphia hospitals, 40 in Camden and five in upper Darby.

It was estimated that at least another hundred injuries were caused by fireworks in this territory, but were not reported.

Harrisburg's celebration was slightly safer and saner than that of former years. Hospitals treated 38 persons for injuries and burns from fireworks as compared with 38 last year and 48 in 1932.

Andrew Banko, 18, of Tanamqua, was drowned attempting to swim across Lakeside dam at McAdoo.

Michael Yoroski, eight years old of Easton, died while swimming in the Lehigh Canal.

In Nazareth, Pa., Orlando Leopold, 65 of Bethlehem, an inmate of the Northampton county home was discovered drowned in the Daniels State Quarry Creek. The coroner said the man had committed suicide.

Edward Lawson, 30, of Cincinnati, O., missing since Saturday, when he went swimming, was found drowned in Lake Waukenaupack, Wayne county.

Five policemen in Philadelphia were suffering from injuries today as the aftermath of a series of disorderly holiday celebrations.

BORAH LAUNCHES ONE MAN CAMPAIGN

Bureaucracy Is Senator's Target

Both Parties Are Challenged—Says Issues Being Smothered

DECLARES HE'LL TAKE ISSUES TO PEOPLE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 5.—After a slashing attack on the "new deal," Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, started on a one-man campaign today to free the government of bureaucracy and business of the strangle hold of monopoly.

Borah charged democracy, as established under the constitution is being frittered away by a bureaucracy here. He said economic recovery is being frustrated by destruction of individual rights and the control of business through monopoly.

The fiery senator charged both Republican and Democratic parties seek to "smother" these issues in the forth coming campaign. He warned both he personally will carry the issues to the people.

"The effort," said Borah, "to fasten a stranglehold system of bureaucracy upon the people generally, to place producers and small business in a network of laws and rules and regulations which not only embarrass the people but aggravate their distress, I shall oppose in every way I know. And shall during the summer and autumn, as best I may, present these matters to the people of this country and urged them to ask the leaders at Washington to loosen the grip of bureaucracy upon the daily lives and habits of the people."

Challenges Both Parties

Borah threw his challenge to both parties, though particularly to the administration, in a vigorous speech last night.

He began by recalling the struggle in 1776 "between a government of law and a government of men," he said this struggle is continuing. He prayed for an opportunity to "retrace our steps," so "America may live her own life and preserve her principles and institutions." Any other form of government, he said, is "tyranny."

Borah recited how America entered the World war to make the world safe for democracy. He said this venture cost America $40,000,000,000 of the taxpayer's money, besides the "dead and crippled, our maimed and insane, our wretched and twisted institutions."

"All America got out of the war," he added, "was a repudiation of the debt."

"Our departure from the policies of Washington and Jefferson in foreign affairs proved no more disappointing and disastrous to the interests of the American people," he continued, "than will be our departure from the principles embodied in the constitution in domestic affairs."

REPORTS ROBBERY

Police today were notified of a robbery at the residence of H. W. McKee, 414 North Mercer street. A watch and necklace were taken. The burglar gained entrance through a partry window, according to the police.

Huge Traveling Motion Picture Studio Will Arrive Here Tomorrow

Everybody Is Invited to Come Out and See and Inspect This Lavish Studio on Wheels

Through the influence of John S. Newman, manager of the Penn Theater, arrangements were made today to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio visit the city on its extensive goodwill exhibition tour of the world.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio on World Tour

The lavishly equipped studio on wheels, constructed by the great motion picture company at a staggering cost of $150,000, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow, and according to present plans will be open for public inspection from 12 until three o'clock in front of the Penn Theater, the home here of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

The studio, which has traveled across the continent from the famous M-G-M studios at Culver City, California, has aboard it more than $60,000 worth of costly and intricate sound motion picture recording and projection equipment. It is a completely equipped Hollywood studio on wheels, capable of taking and recording sound pictures, as well as projecting them on the screen.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director and a complete staff of camera, soundmen, electricians and movie makeup experts compose the personnel of the outfit, but it is not known as yet whether any motion pictures will be filmed in this city during its visit here.

Its brief stop-over here is being regarded purely as one to permit film fans of this city to inspect the magnificent outfit, to learn how talking pictures are filmed and recorded.

didn't leave town to capture two nice bass. He landed them out of the Neshannock creek, along the Narrows.

Noting the large number of trees that have been uprooted in the past few days in the East Brook-Volant and Harlansburg general area, it is indicated that there was an exceptionally severe windstorm in that section recently.

Officials of the New Castle hospital told Young Pa Newc that numerous youngsters were injured yesterday, the result of fireworks bursting in their hands. The injuries were not serious.

day perfect for outdoor picnic meals and swimming.

Cascade Park Crowded

Thousands crowded Cascade Park during the afternoon, with the evening bringing a crowd second only to the Tin Workers picnic of last Saturday. At the time of the fireworks, ten thirty P. M., the crowd probably was 15,000 at a conservative estimate. Concessionaires reported a busy day, with the dancing pavilion crowded to capacity.

While hundreds left the city for the day, their leaving was more than compensated by the hundreds from other counties who came in to the various Slippery Rock picnic spots and to Cascade Park. The parking lot in Cascade Park showed scores of Ohio license plates, with a scattering from several other states.

The highways were veritable streams of traffic early in the day and late in the evening. There were several accidents, but the amazing thing seems to be that there were not more. State Highway patrolmen were on the job from dawn to dark checking traffic and their presence undoubtedly is responsible for the accident list being as low as it is.

It was an ideal Fourth of July. The average citizen went to bed last night feeling that he had enjoyed himself with sleep coming after the last firecracker had been exploded. The city ordinance prohibits the setting off of fireworks in the city but it takes more than a city ordinance to restrain the exuberance of small boys.

BORAH LAUNCHES ONE MAN CAMPAIGN

Bureaucracy Is Senator's Target

Both Parties Are Challenged —Says Issues Being Smothered

DECLARES HE'LL TAKE ISSUES TO PEOPLE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 5.—After a slashing attack on the "new deal," Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, started on a one-man campaign today to free the government of bureaucracy and business of the strange hold of monopoly.

Borah charged Democracy, as established under the constitution is being frittered away by a bureaucracy here. He said economic recovery is being frustrated by destruction of individual rights and the control of business through monopoly.

The fiery senator charged both Republican and Democratic parties seek to "smother" these issues in the forthcoming campaign. He warned both he personally will carry the issues to the people.

"The effort," said Borah, "to fasten a strange hold of bureaucracy upon the people generally, to place producers and small business in a network of laws and rules and regulations which not only embarrass the people but aggravate their distress, I shall oppose in every way I know. And shall during the summer and autumn, as best I may, present these matters to the people of this country and urge them to ask the leaders at Washington to loosen the grip of bureaucracy upon the daily lives and habits of the people."

Challenges Both Parties
Borah threw his challenge to both parties, though particularly to the administration, in a vigorous speech last night.

He began by recalling the struggle in 1776 "between a government of law and a government of men," he said this struggle is continuing. He prayed for an opportunity to "retrace our steps," so "America may live her own life and preserve her principles and institutions." Any other form of government, he said, is "tyranny."

Borah recited how America entered the World War to make the world safe for Democracy. He said this venture cost America $40,000,000,000 of the taxpayer's money, besides the "dead and crippled, our maimed and insane, our wretched and twisted institutions."

"All America got out of the war," he added, "was a repudiation of the debt."

"Our departure from the policies of Washington and Jefferson in foreign affairs proved no more disappointing and disastrous to the interests of the American people," he continued, "than will be our departure from the principles embodied in the constitution in domestic affairs."

REPORTS ROBBERY

Huge Traveling Motion Picture Studio Will Arrive Here Tomorrow

Everybody Is Invited to Come Out and See and Inspect
This Lavish Studio on Wheels

Through the influence of John S. Newman, manager of the Penn Theater, arrangements were made today to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio visit the city on its extensive goodwill exhibition tour of the world.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio on World Tour.

The lavishly equipped studio on wheels, constructed by the great motion picture company at a staggering cost of $150,000, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow, and according to present plans will be open for public inspection from 12 until three o'clock in front of the Penn Theater, the home here of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

The studio, which has traveled across the continent from the famous M-G-M studios at Culver City, California, has aboard it more than $60,000 worth of costly and intricate sound motion picture recording and projection equipment. It is a completely equipped Hollywood studio on wheels, capable of taking and recording sound pictures, as well as projecting them on the screen.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director and a complete staff of camera, soundmen, electricians and movie makeup experts compose the personnel of the outfit, but it is not known as yet whether any motion pictures will be filmed in this city during its visit here.

Its brief stop-over here is being regarded purely as one to permit film fans of this city to inspect the magnificent outfit, to learn how talking pictures are filmed and recorded.

Noting the large number of trees that have been uprooted in the past few days in the East Brook-Volant and Harlansburg general area, it is indicated that there was an exceptionally severe windstorm in that section recently.

Officials of the New Castle hospital told Young Pa Newc this morning that numerous youngsters were injured yesterday, the result of fireworks bursting in their hands. The injuries were not serious.

day perfect for outdoor picnic meals and swimming.

Cascade Park Crowded
Thousands crowded Cascade Park during the afternoon with the evening bringing a crowd second only to the Tin Workers picnic of last Saturday. At the time of the fireworks, ten thirty P. M., the crowd probably was 15,000 at a conservative estimate. Concessionaires reported a busy day, with the dancing pavilion crowded to capacity.

While hundreds left the city for the day, their leaving was more than compensated by the hundreds from other counties who came in to the various Slippery Rock picnic spots and to Cascade Park. The parking lot in Cascade Park showed scores of Ohio licenses, with a scattering from several other states. The highways were veritable streams of traffic early in the day and late in the evening. There were several accidents but the amazing thing seems to be that there were not more. State Highway patrolmen were on the job from dawn to dark checking traffic and their presence undoubtedly is responsible for the accident list being as low as it is.

It was an ideal Fourth of July. The average citizen went to bed last night feeling that he had enjoyed himself with sleep coming after the last firecracker had been exploded. The city ordinance prohibits the setting off of fireworks in the city but it takes more than a city ordinance to restrain the exuberance of small boys.

Fireworks left behind an enormous list of casualties. Two children and a woman were blinded while more than 100 received treatment at Pittsburgh hospitals for burns and other injuries caused by fireworks and explosives. The list of those injured continued to mount today and hospital authorities felt it may exceed the toll of 144 registered in 1933.

Among the tens of thousands who sought pleasure in varying diversions in the Philadelphia metropolitan area on Independence Day three lost their lives by drowning and 138 persons were injured by exploding fireworks.

Fireworks Toll Heavy
The fireworks toll was the heaviest since 1919, despite the efforts of police to make the holiday safe and sane.

William McCue, 18, who had a record of having saved three persons from drowning, was one of the victims who met a watery death. There was none to rescue the youthful hero when he was seized with a sudden attack of cramps while swimming in the Delaware river in Philadelphia. He sank to his death. Losing his footing while walking on a ledge, Emil Dose, 22 fell into the Darby river at Crofton and was drowned.

It was estimated that at least another hundred injuries were caused by fireworks in this territory, but were not reported.

Harrisburg's celebration was slightly safer and saner than that of former years. Hospital treated 33 persons for injuries and burns from fireworks as compared with 38 last year and 48 in 1932.

Andrew Banko, 18, of Tamaqua, was drowned attempting to swim across Lakeside dam at McAdoo.

FLIGHT TO ALASKA

SPECULATION apropos the forthcoming mass flight of 10 fast army bombing planes from Washington to Alaska and return concerns the international aspect of the thing rather than its aeronautical purposes.

The public will follow the flight in the newspapers and news reels with the usual interest but the conversation will deal mainly with what the war department is thinking of and what Japan and Russia will think about it.

It is a foregone conclusion that Japanese jingoes will interpret the flight as an open threat against Japan and another move on the part of Washington toward American supremacy on the Pacific. Everything Uncle Sam does anywhere on the Pacific has some ulterior military motive in the imagination of the Japs.

War department heads make no secret of the fact that the air armada will map routes, locate landing fields and otherwise give a thought to Alaskan defenses. Asia is not so far from Alaska that Uncle Sam can leave his territory unprotected.

This year's naval and air maneuvers staged by Uncle Sam should have one of two results: Japan will either take the hint and join in disarmament plans or she will take fright and bankrupt herself with costly armaments.

The 10 U. S. air corps planes will demonstrate the facility with which Uncle Sam can speed protection to his Alaskan outposts at the first warning of danger. The corps has proved much more proficient in carrying bombs than in carrying mail.

A VALUABLE WORK

The North American Indians of the early days, although in an uncivilized state, possessed one advantage not enjoyed today even by the world's most highly civilized nations.

Most of the tribes spoke different languages, and there were few members of one tribe who could speak the language of another tribe. The various groups, nevertheless, had a common sign language with which practically all Indians from the Pacific to the Atlantic were familiar.

Major General Hugh L. Scott at the time of his death was engaged in compiling a dictionary of this sign language. Through his long contact with the Indian, first as foe and later as friend, he understood the language probably better than any other white man. It was composed of symbols made with hand and finger movements, in view of ethnologists, it was the most remarkable system of communication ever employed by mankind.

The Smithsonian Institution, to the bureau of ethnology of which General Scott's unfinished work was turned over, has set its hand to the task of completing the dictionary. In order to do this it has brought to Washington, Richard Sanderville, 70-year-old Blackfoot, who thoroughly understands the language and is one of the very few remaining Indians who do. The language was composed of at least 2,000 symbols. The dictionary, as begun by General Scott, will consist of 2,000 cards. Each of these will contain a work and its sign symbol.

Completion of the work will prove of inestimable value to American ethnology. In undertaking this, the Smithsonian Institution is performing a task the importance of which will grow with the years.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED

Study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 756,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to blunders.

A recent analysis by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters shows what the blunders were.

1. Drove too fast for conditions—this accounted for approximately three-fourths of all mishaps in 1933 assigned to driving blunders.
  2. Failed to slow down at intersections.
  3. Failed to keep to the right.
  4. Tried to pass another car going in the same direction when view was obstructed.
  5. Failed to slow down on approaching pedestrians.
  6. Passed on the right of a preceding vehicle.
  7. Ignored important traffic control devices.
  8. Parked at dangerous spots.
- If drivers will obey the eight common sense rules suggested by these violations, the annual accident record can be reduced to a negligible figure.

JUNE BRIDES BREAK RECORD

The strains of "Here Comes the Bride" will have to be put down as playing a part in breaking the back of the depression.

We have had the biggest June crop of weddings since the 1929 crash in the stock market.

Apparently we have reached the point where people are beginning to gamble again. Exact figures are not available, but county clerks everywhere as well as in Lawrence county have been doing a land-office business in handing out marriage licenses and some of them say they have exceeded the totals of the boom years.

One reason given is that many couples engaged for two, three or five years have grown weary of waiting for better times.

Out West they blame it on the drought. "Farm boys can't work in this weather," declares the head of the Omaha Marriage Bureau, "so they don't wait until October to marry."

Others ascribe the rush to marry to "the return of prosperity." Skeptics may swallow hard over this explanation, but why not accept it? Isn't love still blind?

The latest Darrow report proved that General Johnson hasn't lost his voice.

The powers must have equal air fleets, but can't two equal two as well as 2000 equals 2000?

Being upper class is simple. You just do as you please and leave the rest to your lawyer.

People used to think their enemies stood in the way of their success. Most of the people's enemies now are in themselves, in their own indifference and laziness.

OUR NUDIST COLONY

I USED TO belong to a nudist colony.

Our toes were all stubbed, our knees were lacerated, our backs were red and blistered, we had freckles all over our faces, we were scrawny and noisy and the farmers in the neighborhood were known to complain about our presence—but as I remember it, it was a great success.

It met every day in the summer time on the banks of a little river, right where the Salpuedes creek flowed into the Pajaro, near a rock where a turtle was always sunning himself until we came along.

We had fun. . . . It was a mile out of town by a dusty road, and sometimes we'd catch a ride all the way along, squishing our toes in the newly watered road. We had to go through a farmer's orchard to get there and the farmer had a couple of dogs who didn't like us, either. But we usually succeeded in filling our shirts with apples as we went through.

Last one in was a nigger baby—and unless you hid your clothes the last one out always found that somebody had chewed beef on him and if you think it isn't possible to tie a kid's shirt into what is practically a Gordian knot then you never had anybody chew beef on your clothes.

We climbed into trees and dived in like frogs. We tried to see who could dive the farthest under water. We got way up the creek and knocked rocks together under water—and THAT hurts the other fellows' ears something terrible. . . . But most of the time I guess we just lay on the sandy-silty bank and ate apples and threw the cores in the creek and watched them float away and smoked wormwood cigarettes or cubies or maybe real cigars—I was a sissy and wouldn't smoke those—and boasted! Boasted about everything. About where we'd been and what we'd done and how low we could stay under water and how tough we were and what we were going to do when we got out of school. . . . We didn't have any fancy ideas about freedom and the joy of going without clothes and being free of the "intolerable restraints of civilization." But, except for the absence of girls, it seems to me it was just as much a "nudist colony" as any of those I read about in the papers.

Or maybe we were just naked kids swimming in a creek in the summer time. . . . I won't argue about it.

YOUR PHYSICAL CONDITION MAY BE ONLY YOUR MENTAL ATTITUDE

Do you realize that you waste about ninety-five percent of your energy?

Do you ever dissipate it in a worthless way or do not exert it to its full value?

You make a great many unnecessary movements in a day. You would accomplish more if they were well directed and fewer. You have surplus energy upon which you do not make any demands.

Often you convince yourself that you are tired.

It is possible for you to think yourself into almost any condition. The only proof you should need is to note how quickly symptoms of weariness leave when something you really want to do presents itself.

The mind immediately rids itself of tired thoughts.

You become enthusiastic over the prospect of what you will enjoy from participation in a proposal which meets your favor.

Being tired and exhausted is often a creation of the mind. It is prompted by laziness more than anything else.

And you are lazy when it comes to doing something you do not care for.

At first you may not believe all this, but it would be well to let some of it sink in.

Hitler Faces An Inexorable Law
Farley's Task
President To Motor Through ParksBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—There is a feeling in the New York financial district that Chancellor Adolph Hitler of Germany has not yet won the "second revolution."

It is not France or the monarchists, it is political intrigue that threatens the collapse of the Nazi regime, but economic isolation.

Germany has no credit. It cannot carry one. At least, it cannot carry on as a highly organized state.

There is no more potent force than hunger.

The enemy that "the leader" has to fight is not within, nor without. It is an inexorable law of economics.

And the results of that law were brought on by Hitler, himself, or his advisers.

That is the judgment of careful observers in New York's financial district—and they are the men on whose judgment world politicians still depend to a great degree, although the politicians pretend to be independently-minded statesmen.

FARLEY

Postmaster General James A. Farley has a difficult summer task. He is to fill many jobs. That should please him. But the president is said to have left word with him that merit will have to come before partisanship.

PRESIDENT'S RETURN

President Roosevelt's return across the continent from Hawaii will have several motor interludes.

The president plans to go through the national parks by auto, of course, likewise to visit several construction jobs by machine.

News correspondents will have to hire their own cars.

CHANGES

President Roosevelt made several changes in reading his address over the radio the other night.

In describing the "fathers of conservatives," he pictured the rebuilding of the White House offices as similar to the reconstruction processes of the New Deal. Nothing unusual would rise on the White House lawn he said. In the written speech, he had added, "no Kremlin go far before somebody would tell you you were wrong."

The speech was written between engagements during the day, and evidently was being revised up to the minute it was spoken.

Great Days—July 5, 1704—John Boughton, father of boxing, was born in London. He made fighting a regulated sport and drew up the London Prize Ring Rules which remained the governing laws of boxing for almost 150 years. Also he was champion for 14 years in a day of bare-knuckle bouts.

Boughton's regulations differed from those of today mainly in the fact that a round ended whenever a fighter fell or was knocked to the ground, after which he was allowed 30 seconds rest. So long as he got up after 30 seconds, the fight went on.

July 5, 1811—Simon Bolivar, 28, started the independence war in Venezuela, first of the colonies to cast off the yoke of Spain.

As far back as 1921 the newspapers published a series of articles intended to prove that good times were "just around the corner." Several years after that good times did come to the industrial world in general—but it never came to the agricultural field at all, because organized business and its allies managed to pass the buck to the farmers and make them carry the biggest part of the deflation load. Instead of giving sincere consideration to the farm problem, and finding a solution for the leaders of all sorts thought they could go on boosting their own prices and profits and making fortunes through speculation.

The inevitable result came in 1929, when the bubble burst. The business world has been squealing under the depression for five years since then—but bear in mind the farming industry has been in the same hole for twice that long. It is no wonder, therefore, that the farmers got just twice as deep in the hole. This justifies the nation in starting the recovery program with the farmers. Once the farmers get back on their feet, recovery will come to general industry and trade as a natural result.

You should forget all about that old saying, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead." You wouldn't go far before somebody would tell you you were wrong.

Hitler Faces An Inexorable Law Farley's Task President To Motor Through Parks

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—There is a feeling in the New York financial district that Chancellor Adolph Hitler of Germany has not yet won the "second revolution."

It is not France or the monarchists or political intrigue that threatens the collapse of the Nazi regime, but economic isolation. Germany has no credit. It cannot carry on. At least, it cannot carry on as a highly organized state.

There is no more potent force than hunger.

The enemy that "the leader" has to fight is not within—nor without. It is an inexorable law of economics.

And the results of that law were brought on by Hitler, himself, or his advisers.

That is the judgment of careful observers in New York's financial district—and they are the men on whose judgment world politicians still depend to a great degree, although the politicians pretend to be independently-minded statesmen.

FARLEY
Postmaster General James A. Farley has a difficult summer task. He is to fill many jobs. That should please him. But the president is said to have left word with him that merit will have to come before partisanship.PRESIDENT'S RETURN
President Roosevelt's return across the continent from Hawaii will have several motor interludes.

The president plans to go through the national parks by auto, of course, likewise to visit several construction jobs by machine.

News correspondents will have to hire their own cars.

CHANGES
President Roosevelt made several changes in reading his address over the radio the other night.

In describing the fears of conservatives, he pictured the rebuilding of the White House offices as similar to the reconstruction process of the New Deal.

Nothing unusual would pass on the White House lawn he said. In the written speech, he had added, "No Kremlin or Potsdam palace"—meaning, no communistic or monarchial rule.

That was out in the spoken talk. The speech was written between engagements during the day, and evidently was being revised up to the minute it was spoken.

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

THURSDAY, JULY 5.

Great Days—July 5, 1704—John Boughton, father of boxing, was born in London.

David Farragut, U. S. Navy admiral, was born in 1810, native of Tennessee, who became the great federal naval commander in the War of States.

Everett Dean Martin, b. 1880, educator and psychologist. "Dwight F. Davis, b. 1879, ex-Secretary of War who is best remembered as donor of the Davis Cup, emblem of world tennis supremacy." "Edouard Herriot, b. 1872, French statesman." "Franz Boas, b. 1859, American anthropologist." "Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, b. 1876, British statesman." "Frederick Lewis, Allen, b. 1890, author—"Only Yesterday," etc.

First Of All—The first savings bank naturally was established in Scotland, and by a minister, Rev. Henry Duncan, D.D., of Ruthwell. No sum of less than a pound drew interest. If less than four shillings were kept on deposit, a charge was made. A week's notice was necessary before a withdrawal could be made. Interest of five percent was paid.

July 5, 1811—Simon Bolivar, 28, started the independence war in Venezuela, first of the colonies to cast off the yoke of Spain.

In time Bolivar, El Libertador, won the freedom of Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, and inspired Argentina and other countries to revolt. (Upper Peru was made a separate state and named Bolivia in his honor.) But he died unwanted by any of the countries he had made free.

July 5, 1853—A man who believed he would be remembered 4,000 years was born in an English village. Tubercular at 16, he was sent to Africa for his health and made a fortune before he was 19.

He went back to England to go to school and further his aim in life to work "for recovery of the United States, for one Empire of the Anglo-Saxon race, so as to render war impossible and promote the best interests of humanity."

He was 24 when he drew up a will bequeathing $100,000,000 for the purpose. He came to possess a country three-quarters of a million square miles large; to give his name to that country; to control all the diamonds in Africa; to build up a great colonial empire for his beloved Britain.

When he was 45 and dying, he cried "So much to do—so little done."

His remains rest in a grave cut into rock, high on a mountain overlooking his world. And all that is written upon it, in words of brass, is: "Here lie the remains of Cecil John Rhodes"—no date, no name of country, no mention of his works.

July 5, 1865—The Salvation Army began to march as William Booth, 36, a Methodist minister, started his first Christian Mission (the original name of the organization) in the open air at Mile End (East End slum district), London.

It became the Salvation Army in name and world wide in character in 1878. Now it works in 74 countries, has 1,716 corps and outposts, operates children's homes, settlements, day nurseries, women's homes, hospitals, dispensaries, summer camps and schools.

Other Notable Nativities—Phineas T. Barnum, b. 1810. His career as a showman began at the age of 25 when he bought Joyce Heth, colored, whom he induced thousands of New Yorkers to pay to see by telling them she was 161 years old and the nurse of George Washington.

Barnet Burnato, b. 1842, English peddler who became like Cecil

The president is remarkably apt at writing messages. He is not so much a coiner of phrases as a student of language that the ordinary man understands and takes to heart.

NO FUTURE
Jewish youth of Germany face no future.

That is the word brought back by Miss Pauline Baerwald, head of the Jewish youth movement in the United States.

They are barred making a living or entering into any profession.

Says Miss Baerwald, herself a Smith college graduate of 1932: "There seems to be no great bitterness, no spirit of vengeance in the youth. They understood its futility, and they seem to have come to the attitude of philosophic resignation when they realize that resistance is futile."

BUSY SENATOR
Senator Robert J. Buckley of Ohio, whose last minute efforts to put through changes in the security act were termed by Senator Couzens of Michigan as being "in the interests of Wall Street," did put through something else.

In the excitement of the closing session of congress, he obtained an amendment to the administration's housing bill permitting congressmen to benefit from virtually all the relief agencies that federal government has created.

Since the amendment became a part of the housing bill, the president could not veto it without killing the whole housing bill.

TAXES HIGH HERE?
Are taxes high in the United States? Go to England. There wealth actually is being confiscated to a large degree.

Viscount Tredegar died in England, leaving an estate of $11,000,000. Death duties amounted to $5,900,000.

Rich men in England are eating into their capital to provide insurance to pay their death taxes.

O'RYAN
Commissioner O'Ryan of New York City, once a very popular National Guard commander in the World War, seems under constant fire these days. Observers say one reason may be that he appointed as two of his deputies men who had served overseas with him rather than men who know the human nature of the great polyglot city.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

W. J. A. Grant a Devonshire, England man, has in his possession the mummy of an Egyptian hawk, 4,000 years old, which he says, drips blood whenever war is imminent. A few weeks before the South African war, a liquid like blood appeared on its breast. The dripping continued until Lord Roberts entered Pretoria.

Before the World War the same thing happened and continued to intervals till six weeks before the armistice. The story of the mysterious hawk was told by Lord Baden-Powell in a speech in 1930, and reported at the time. He refused to divulge the name of the owner.

Grant says it's so, but the reader may "believe it or not."

Dinner Stories

FOOLED THIS TIME
"I'll never ask another woman to marry me as long as I live.""What? Refused again?"
"No. Accepted."THREE'S A CROWD
Little Brother: Bet he'd kiss you if I weren't here.

Sister: Bobby, run away this instant.

Memory test: Name one Socialist who continued to be a Socialist after inheriting a large fortune—or a small fortune—or $50 in cash.

FLIGHT TO ALASKA

SPECULATION apropos the forthcoming mass flight of 10 fast army bombing planes from Washington to Alaska and return concerns the international aspect of the thing rather than its aeronautical purposes.

The public will follow the flight in the newspapers and news reels with the usual interest but the conversation will deal mainly with what the war department is thinking of and what Japan and Russia will think about it.

It is a foregone conclusion that Japanese jingoes will interpret the flight as an open threat against Japan and another move on the part of Washington toward American supremacy on the Pacific. Everything Uncle Sam does anywhere on the Pacific has some ulterior military motive in the imagination of the Japs.

War department heads make no secret of the fact that the air armada will map routes, locate landing fields and otherwise give a thought to Alaskan defenses. Asia is not so far from Alaska that Uncle Sam can leave his territory unprotected.

This year's naval and air maneuvers staged by Uncle Sam should have one of two results: Japan will either take the hint and join in disarmament plans or she will take fright and bankrupt herself with costly armaments.

The 10 U. S. air corps planes will demonstrate the facility with which Uncle Sam can speed protection to his Alaskan outposts at the first warning of danger. The corps has proved much more proficient in carrying bombs than in carrying mail.

A VALUABLE WORK

The North American Indians of the early days, although in an uncivilized state, possessed one advantage not enjoyed today even by the world's most highly civilized nations.

Most of the tribes spoke different languages, and there were few members of one tribe who could speak the language of another tribe. The various groups, nevertheless, had a common sign language with which practically all Indians from the Pacific to the Atlantic were familiar.

Major General Hugh L. Scott at the time of his death was engaged in compiling a dictionary of this sign language. Through his long contact with the Indian, first as foe and later as friend, he understood the language probably better than any other white man. It was composed of symbols made with hand and finger movements, in view of ethnologists, it was the most remarkable system of communication ever employed by mankind.

The Smithsonian Institution, to the bureau of ethnology of which General Scott's unfinished work was turned over, has set its hand to the task of completing the dictionary. In order to do this it has brought to Washington, Richard Sanderville, 70-year-old Blackfoot, who thoroughly understands the language and is one of the very few remaining Indians who do. The language was composed of at least 2,000 symbols. The dictionary, as begun by General Scott, will consist of 2,000 cards. Each of these will contain a work and its sign symbol.

Completion of the work will prove of inestimable value to American ethnology. In undertaking this, the Smithsonian Institution is performing a task the importance of which will grow with the years.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED

Study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 756,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to blunders.

A recent analysis by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters shows what the blunders were.

1. Drove too fast for conditions—this accounted for approximately three-fourths of all mishaps in 1933 assigned to driving blunders.
  2. Failed to slow down at intersections.
  3. Failed to keep to the right.
  4. Tried to pass another car going in the same direction when view was obstructed.
  5. Failed to slow down on approaching pedestrians.
  6. Passed on the right of a preceding vehicle.
  7. Ignored important traffic control devices.
  8. Parked at dangerous spots.
- If drivers will obey the eight common sense rules suggested by these violations, the annual accident record can be reduced to a negligible figure.

JUNE BRIDES BREAK RECORD

The strains of "Here Comes the Bride" will have to be put down as playing a part in breaking the back of the depression. We have had the biggest June crop of weddings since the 1929 crash in the stock market.

Apparently we have reached the point where people are beginning to gamble again. Exact figures are not available, but county clerks everywhere as well as in Lawrence county have been doing a land-office business in handing out marriage licenses and some of them say they have exceeded the totals of the boom years.

One reason given is that many couples engaged for two, three or five years have grown weary of waiting for better times.

Out West they blame it on the drought. "Farm boys can't work in this weather," declares the head of the Omaha Marriage Bureau, "so they don't wait until October to marry."

Others ascribe the rush to marry to "the return of prosperity." Skeptics may swallow hard over this explanation, but why not accept it? Isn't love still blind?

The latest Darrow report proved that General Johnson hasn't lost his voice.

The powers must have equal air fleets, but can't two equal two as well as 2000 equals 2000?

Being upper class is simple. You just do as you please and leave the rest to your lawyer.

People used to think their enemies stood in the way of their success. Most of the people's enemies now are in themselves, in their own indifference and laziness.

OUR NUDIST COLONY

I USED TO belong to a nudist colony.

Our toes were all stubbed, our knees were lacerated, our backs were red and blistered, we had freckles all over our faces, we were scrawny and noisy and the farmers in the neighborhood were known to complain about our presence—but as I remember it, it was a great success.

It met every day in the summer time on the banks of a little river, right where the Salspuedes creek flowed into the Pajaro, near a rock where a turtle was always sunning himself until we came along.

We had fun. It was a mile out of town by a dusty road, and sometimes we'd catch a ride all the way on the water wagon or we walked along, squishing our toes in the newly watered road. We had to go through a farmer's orchard to get there and the farmer had a couple of dogs who didn't like us, either. But we usually succeeded in filling our shirts with apples as we went through.

Last one in was a nigger baby—and unless you hid your clothes the last one out always found that somebody had chewed beef on him and if you think it isn't possible to tie a kid's shirt into what is practically a Gordian knot then you never had anybody chew beef on your clothes.

We climbed into trees and dived in like frogs. We tried to see who could dive the farthest under water. We got way up the creek and knocked rocks together under water—and THAT hurts the other fellows' ears something terrible.

But most of the time I guess we just lay on the sandy-silty bank and ate apples and threw the cores in the creek and watched them float away and smoked wormwood cigarettes or cubebs or maybe real cigarettes—I was a sissy and wouldn't smoke those—and boasted! Boasted about everything. About where we'd been and what we'd done and how long we could stay under water and how tough we were and what we were going to do when we got out of school.

We didn't have any fancy ideas about freedom and the joy of going without clothes and being free of the "intolerable restrictions of civilization." But, except for the absence of girls, it seems to me it was just as much a "nudist colony" as any of those I read about in the papers.

Or maybe we were just naked kids swimming in a creek in the summer time. . . . I won't argue about it.

YOUR PHYSICAL CONDITION MAY BE ONLY YOUR MENTAL ATTITUDE

Do you realize that you waste about ninety-five percent of your energy?

Or do you dissipate it in a worthless way or do not exercise it.

You make a great many unnecessary movements in a day.

You would accomplish more if they were well directed and fewer.

You have surplus energy upon which you do not make any demands.

Often you convince yourself that you are tired.

It is possible for you to think yourself into almost any condition.

The only proof you should need is to note how quickly symptoms of weariness leave when something you really want to do presents itself.

The mind immediately rids itself of tired thoughts.

You become enthusiastic over the prospects of what you will enjoy from participation in a proposal which meets your favor.

Being tired and exhausted is often a creation of the mind.

It is prompted by laziness more than anything else.

And you are lazy when it comes to doing something you do not care for.

At first you may not believe all this, but it would be well to let some of it sink in.

INSECT WORLD

We know so little. That whenever I pass I think I hear faint whisperings in the grass.

From tiny creatures I can scarcely see Out of their wisdom making fun of me.

There's a world in which I cannot go. A knowledge never given me to know.

There's a purpose, baffling unto man, And yet the ants appear to have a plan.

Earth is their home and I am sure they find Charms and delights to which man's eyes are blind.

Ants no doubt wonder why men never stay To gaze on tiny splendors, just as they.

Nor do I think they envy us at all, But count it God's blessing to be small.

For they possess within a patch of grass A world of beauty mortals blindly pass.

Great Days—July 5, 1704—John Bouchton, father of boxing, was born in London. He made fighting a regulated sport and drew up the London Prize Ring Rules which remained the governing laws of ringdom for almost 150 years. Also he was champion for 14 years in a day of bare-knuckle bouts.

Four Dead In Philadelphia Area

In Philadelphia metropolitan area and southern New Jersey the heavy congestion of pleasure-seeking motorists on the highways left a toll of six deaths and dozens of injuries.

A widely-known society girl, Edith Kendrick, 26, of Haverford, was instantly killed when a tire of an automobile in which she was riding blew out, overturning the car. The accident occurred shortly before midnight on the Black Horse Pike, 15 miles south of Camden, N. J. The driver of the automobile, H. Dewitt Whitteley, 27, of Wynnewood, Pa., was seriously injured and was taken to West Jersey Homeopathic hospital in Camden.

Walking backward while frolicking in water spouting from a fire hydrant in Philadelphia, Thomas Malloy, 28, unwittingly bumped into a moving automobile. He was killed.

Under the wreckage of his motorcycle, Maurice L. Rittenhouse, 25, of Roxborough, was found dead on the Pinetown road, ten miles west native Vonner element, the personal representative of President Paul Von Hindenburg, Baron Franz Von Pappen.

VON PAPPEN STILL RETAINS POST AS VICE CHANCELLOR

A situation absolutely incomprehensible to Americans exists in Germany today as a result of the deaths of an unknown number in the shootings and executions of the bloodless end.

Many of the most prominent men in the life of the nation have disappeared and it is impossible to determine from the newspapers, from the government or even from their friends and families what was their fate.

Mystery Of Great Dimensions

It is a mystery alongside which come mysteries of history like the "Man in the Iron Mask" faded into insignificance.

Only today did there come to Berlin word of the fate of the former premier of Bavaria, Dr. Gustav Von Kahr, who quelled Hitler's "beer hall putsch" in 1923. It is now reported that his body was found, riddled with bullets, in a swamp near Dachau, near Munich.

With it were the bodies of Lieutenant Schreiner who was jailed for propagandizing in the Reichswehr (regular army) of which he was an officer in 1930 and Herr Sentner, a close friend of Captain Ernst Koenig.

The death of Kahr was denied by the government press office in Berlin previously. This time it was reported there was no denial on the part of Nazi officials in Munich. The men were executed by a firing squad in the Stadelheim, the huge fortress of the city.

Others who directed the suppression of Hitler's abortive attempt to overthrow the government 11 years ago are believed to be dead.

They include, Lieutenant General von Lessow, who commanded the Munich garrison at that time; Johann von Selzer, commander of the Munich police, and Karl Stentzel, former minister of the interior for Bavaria.

How these men, old enemies of the Brown shirts, were involved in a threatened rebellion headed by Brown shirt leaders, was not explained.

Denies One Execution

Also only today came some word as to the fate of Manfred von Killinger, premier of Saxony, who has been missing.

The government press bureau in a statement threatening a dire fate for those who circulated "unwarranted rumors" denied the execution of Premier Killinger. It is said that he had been arrested as a suspect, sent to a concentration camp but now had been released.

How incredible this situation is to Americans can be realized only by drawing parallels. Support in one weekend a president of the United States ordered the seizure of an ex-president who was thereupon killed "resisting arrest" and in addition the fate of a former governor of Illinois was revealed only by the discovery of his bullet-ridden body in a swamp, and the fate of the present governor of a large eastern state should remain a mystery until the government finally announced that it had arrested and released him.

Add to that mysterious disappearances and rumored executions of fifty or more persons in "Who's Who in America" and what a story it would be. The situation becomes the more incredible the further the parallel is drawn.

Hitler Shocked

World reaction to his decree of death before the firing squad for enemies and old companions-in-arms has surprised and aggrieved Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Foreign reaction came as a shock after the adulation in his own press controlled by the Nazi bureau of propaganda and public enlightenment.

And as a result, the list of "prominent" persons executed which has been repeatedly promised by the Nazi Press bureau, may never be issued.

Even history may never be able to determine how many died in Hitler's weekend "blood bath."

Departing from its general policy of ignoring adverse opinion the German press quoted an editorial from the London Times, in order to remind England that the British Isles also had not been without postwar violence.

The Times editorial wiped Germany off the map of Europe. It said that Germany "had ceased to exist as a modern European country" because of "its savagery and political methods of the middle ages."

VON PAPAN STILL RETAINS POST AS VICE CHANCELLOR

vative Junker element, the personal representative of President Paul Von Hindenburg, Baron Franz Von Papan.

A situation absolutely incomprehensible to Americans exists in Germany today as a result of the deaths of an unknown number in the shootings and executions of the bloody week-end.

Many of the most prominent men in the life of the nation have disappeared and it is impossible to determine from the newspapers, from the government or even from their friends and families what was their fate.

Mystery of Great Dimensions
It is a mystery alongside which other mysteries of history like the "Man in the Iron Mask" fade into insignificance.

Only today did there come to Berlin word of the fate of the former premier of Bavaria, Dr. Gustave Von Kahr, who squelched Hitler's "beer hall putsch" in 1923. It is now reported that his body was found, riddled with bullets, in a swamp near Dachau, near Munich.

With it were the bodies of Lieutenant Schreinger who was jailed for propagandizing in the Reichswehr (regular army) of which he was an officer in 1930 and Herr Sentner, a close friend of Captain Ernst Roehm's.

The death of Kahr was denied by the government press office in Berlin previously. This time it was reported that there was no denial on the part of Nazi officials in Munich. The men were executed by a firing squad in the Stadelheim, the huge fortress of the city.

Others who directed the suppression of Hitler's abortive attempt to overthrow the government 11 years ago are believed to be dead.

They include, Lieutenant General von Leseow, who commanded the Munich garrison at that time; Johann von Selser, commander of the Munich police, and Karl Steutzel, former minister of the interior for Bavaria.

How these men, old enemies of the Brown shirts, were involved in a threatened rebellion headed by Brown shirt leaders, was not explained.

Denies One Execution

Also only today came some word as to the fate of Manfred von Killinger, premier of Saxony, who has been missing.

The government press bureau in a statement threatening a dire fate for those who circulated "unwarranted rumors" denied the execution of Premier Killinger. It is said that he had been arrested as a suspect, sent to a concentration camp but now had been released.

How incredible this situation is to Americans can be realized only by drawing parallels. Support in one weekend a president of the United States ordered the seizure of an ex-president who was thereupon killed resisting arrest and in addition the fate of a former governor of Illinois was revealed only by the discovery of his bullet ridden body in a swamp, and the fate of the present governor of a large eastern state should remain a mystery until the government finally announced that it had arrested and released him.

Add to that mysterious disappearances and rumors of executions of fifty or more persons in "Who's Who in America" and what a story it would be. The situation becomes the more incredible the further the parallel is drawn.

Hitler Shocked
World reaction to his decrees of death before the firing squad for enemies and old companions-in-arms has surprised and aggrieved Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Foreign reaction came as a shock after the attestation in his own press controlled by the Nazi bureau of propaganda and public enlightenment.

And as a result, the list of "prominent" persons executed which has been repeatedly promised by the Nazi Press bureau, may never be issued.

Even history may never be able to determine how many died in Hitler's weekend "blood bath."

Departing from its general policy of ignoring adverse opinion the German press quoted an editorial from the London Times, in order to remind England that the British Isles also had not been without postwar violence.

The Times editorial wiped Germany off the map of Europe. It said that Germany "had ceased to exist as a modern European country" because of "its savagery and political methods of the middle ages."

PORTERSVILLE GARAGE
WILL BE REBUILT

Work will begin at once rebuilding the Perry Highway garage at Portersville that was destroyed by fire about a week ago. The garage, which was of cement blocks, was completely destroyed early one morning, and a new garage will be put on the foundation, that being all that remains of the building.

Erect Cabins At Camp Fred Rentz

Y. M. C. A. Announces Gifts From Mr. Rentz; Has Donated Two

Y BUILDING ONE; HOPE FOR OTHERS

The realization of a dream of years of Y. M. C. A. officials—that of a modern "cabin camping" system for Camp Fred L. Rentz of the New Castle Y. M. C. A.—will come in some measure, if not in full, when the big gate at Camp Rentz swings open for the 1934 vacation season on Tuesday, July 10.

New under construction at the picturesque camping spot are three frame cabins, 14x18 feet, which will house a part of the Camp Rentz youngsters this year in the place of canvas tents.

Will Modernize Camp
The generosity of the camp donor, Fred L. Rentz, has alone made it possible for the Y. M. C. A. to inaugurate what it hopes in a few summers will be a camp completely equipped with 10 sleeping cabins.

Praising Mr. Rentz's personal interest and his genuine concern for Camp Rentz's improvement, General Secretary McMeers said: "This is a step the board has contemplated for years, and Mr. Rentz is making it possible to proceed. He has donated the two cabins, while the association is building the third. Boys now will have better accommodations than ever before."

Both of the Rentz cabins and the one the Y. M. C. A. will erect will be equipped with electric lights, with wide side flaps for ventilation and bunks large enough to accommodate eight fellows and a counselor.

Tents will be used, Mr. McMeers said, to house the remainder of campers.

Hoping that Camp Rentz will receive additional cabins as donations from citizens, Mr. McMeers and the Y. board have mapped out an equipment program for the future which includes seven more cabins—a total of 10—and a general headquarters building. The camp's Katy Did lodge, the gift of Mrs. Fred L.

Rentz, serves well as a dining hall for the campers. Jacob F. Rentz underwrote the digging of a well and other camp improvements.

Each of the three new cabins cost $250. They will conform in design and material with the present Katy Did lodge.

Ask Recall Of Akron Mayor In Strike Trouble

Claim Mayor Used Police As Strike-Breakers In Aid-

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., July 5.—Petitions asking for the recall of Mayor I. S. Myers on grounds that he allegedly used police as strike breakers in the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. strike this week were placed in circulation here today by Frank M. Patino, president of the Central Labor Union.

Patino claimed that 41 labor locals had volunteered to circulate the 70 petitions which he procured from Miss Josephine Bauman, clerk of the city council.

Myers was elected mayor last fall, defeating J. Earl Cox, the candidate who held the endorsement of organized labor.

On Tuesday, according to Patino's charges, Myers sent a detachment of heavily armed policemen to break through picket lines at the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. and to aid workmen in shipping out materials.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The motion picture owners of Philadelphia and vicinity are wholeheartedly in favor of the church efforts to "clean house" in banning indecent pictures, Morris Wax, chairman of the board of managers of the Independent Exhibitors Protective association, declared today.

"The members of our association have no intention of closing their theatres, nor protesting against the attitude of the church in their demand for clean films," Wax stated.

"We are opposed, however," Wax continued, "to any indiscriminate blanket boycott of all pictures because some of them are considered indecent."

The organization for which Wax spoke includes numerous main neighborhood theatres, not affiliated with another independent group which was announced closing of 450 theatres, unless the boycott is lifted or modified on July 23.

(International News Service)
WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5.—Helen Jacobs, queen of the American tennis courts, and Dorothy Round, England's ranking player, today fought their way into the final round of the all-England tennis championships and will meet Saturday for the title.

The California girl eliminated Joan Hartigan, the surprising Australian, 6-2, 6-2, and the British star put out Rene Thellier, the French champion, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

While Helen was carrying the American banner forward in the women's singles, George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stofen of Los Angeles were advancing to the semifinals in the men's doubles by trimming the German pair, H. Denker and H. Henkel, 6-1, 13-11, 6-2.

Borotra and Brugnon, the veteran French combine, showed superior team work in eliminating Dic Williams and Sidney Wood, Americans, in the men's doubles, 8-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Williams' stamina was not equal to the fast pace the Frenchmen set and Wood couldn't carry the burden alone.

Erect Cabins At Camp Fred Rentz

Y. M. C. A. Announces Gifts From Mr. Rentz; Has Donated Two

Y BUILDING ONE; HOPE FOR OTHERS

The realization of a dream of years of Y. M. C. A. officials—that of a modern "cabin camping" system for Camp Fred L. Rentz of the New Castle Y. M. C. A.—will come in some measure, if not in full, when the big gate at Camp Rentz swings open for the 1934 vacation season on Tuesday, July 10.

New under construction at the picturesque camping spot are three frame cabins, 14x18 feet, which will house a part of the Camp Rentz youngsters this year in the place of canvas tents.

Will Modernize Camp
The generosity of the camp donor, Fred L. Rentz, has alone made it possible for the Y. M. C. A. to inaugurate what it hopes in a few summers will be a camp completely equipped with 10 sleeping cabins.

Fraising Mr. Rentz's personal interest and his genuine concern for Camp Rentz's improvement, General Secretary Meermans said: "This is a step the board has contemplated for years, and Mr. Rentz is making it possible to proceed. He has donated the two cabins, while the association is building the third. Boys now will have better accommodations than ever before."

Both of the Rentz cabins and the one the Y. will erect will be equipped with electric lights, with wide side flaps for ventilation and bunks large enough to accommodate eight fellows and a counselor. Tents will be used, Mr. Meermans said, to house the remainder of campers.

Hoping that Camp Rentz will receive additional cabins as donations from citizens, Mr. Meermans and the Y. board have mapped out an equipment program for the future which includes seven more cabins—a total of 10—and a general headquarters building. The camp's Katy Did lodge, the gift of Mrs. Fred L.

Rentz, serves well as a dining hall for the campers. Jacob F. Rentz underwrote the digging of a well and other camp improvements.

Each of the three new cabins cost $250. They will conform in design and material with the present Katy Did lodge.

Drudge New Pool
Other improvements at the camp this year include the dredging of a swimming hole at the gate entrance.

On July 10 a corps of 50 "cader" campers—youthful boys—will arrive for one week's stay, after which the older boys will invade the place for three weeks. Following that a group of between 40 and 50 worthy youngsters of the city, their week's trip underwritten by the Kiwanis Club and the Phalanx fraternity, will enjoy a vacation there.

Ask Recall Of Akron Mayor In Strike Trouble

Claim Mayor Used Police As Strike-Breakers In Aiding Company

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., July 5.—Petitions asking for the recall of Mayor I. S. Myers on grounds that he allegedly used police as strike breakers in the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. strike this week were placed in circulation here today by Frank M. Patino, president of the Central Labor Union.

Patino claimed that 41 labor locals had volunteered to circulate the 70 petitions which he procured from Miss Josephine Bauman, clerk of the city council.

Myers was elected mayor last fall, defeating J. Earl Cox, the candidate, who held the endorsement of organized labor.

On Tuesday, according to Patino's charges, Myers sent a detachment of heavily armed policemen to break through picket lines at the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. and to aid workmen in shipping out materials.

Church People In Philadelphia Would Boycott Movies Due To Indecency

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The motion picture owners of Philadelphia and vicinity are wholeheartedly in favor of the churches' efforts to "clean house" in banning indecent pictures, Morris Wax, chairman of the board of managers of the Independent Exhibitors Protective association, declared today.

"The members of our association have no intention of closing their theatres, nor of protesting against the attitude of the churches in their demand for clean films," Wax stated.

"We are opposed, however," Wax continued, "to any indiscriminate blanket boycott of all pictures because some of them are considered indecent."

The organization for which Wax spoke includes numerous chain neighborhood theatres, not affiliated with another independent group which was announced closing of 450 theatres, unless the boycott is lifted or modified on July 23.

Helen Jacobs And Dorothy Round To Play For Title

(International News Service)
WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5.—Helen Jacobs, queen of the American tennis courts, and Dorothy Round, England's ranking player, today fought their way into the final round of the all-England tennis championships and will meet Saturday for the title.

The California girl eliminated Joan Hartigan, the surprising Australian, 6-2, 6-5, and the British star put out Ren. Mathieu, the French champion, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

While Helen was carrying the American banner forward in the women's singles, George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stoeffer of Los Angeles were advancing to the semifinals in the men's doubles by trimming the German pair, H. Denker and H. Henkel, 6-3, 13-11, 6-3.

Borotra and Brugnon, the veteran French combine, showed superior team work in eliminating Dic Williams and Sidney Wood, Americans, in the men's doubles, 8-6, 6-2, 6-3. Williams' stamina was not equal to the fast pace the Frenchmen set and Wood couldn't carry the burden alone.

Ask Recall Of Akron Mayor In Strike Trouble

Claim Mayor Used Police As Strike-Breakers In Aiding Company

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., July 5.—Petitions asking for the recall of Mayor I. S. Myers on grounds that he allegedly used police as strike breakers in the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. strike this week were placed in circulation here today by Frank M. Patino, president of the Central Labor Union.

Patino claimed that 41 labor locals had volunteered to circulate the 70 petitions which he procured from Miss Josephine Bauman, clerk of the city council.

Myers was elected mayor last fall, defeating J. Earl Cox, the candidate who held the endorsement of organized labor.

On Tuesday, according to Patino's charges, Myers sent a detachment of heavily armed policemen to break through picket lines at the Enterprise Manufacturing Co. and to aid workmen in shipping out materials.

Church People In Philadelphia Would Boycott Movies Due To Indecency

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The motion picture owners of Philadelphia and vicinity are wholeheartedly in favor of the churches' efforts to "clean house" in banning indecent pictures, Morris Wax, chairman of the board of managers of the Independent Exhibitors Protective association, declared.

"The members of our association have no intention of closing their theatres, nor of protesting against the attitude of the churches in their demand for clean films," Wax stated.

"We are opposed, however," Wax continued, "to any indiscriminate blanket boycott of all pictures because some of them are considered indecent."

The organization for which Wax spoke includes numerous chain neighborhood theatres, not affiliated with another independent group which was announced closing of 450 theatres, unless the boycott is lifted or modified on July 23.

Helen Jacobs And Dorothy Round To Play For Title

(International News Service)
WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5.—Helen Jacobs, queen of the American tennis, and Dorothy Round, England's rising player, today fought their way into the final round of the all-England tennis championships and will meet Saturday for the title.

The Californian girl eliminated Joan Hartigan, the surprising Australian, 6-2, 6-2, and the British star put out Rene Mathieu, the French champion, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

While Helen was carrying the American banner forward in the women's singles, George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stoeffen of Los Angeles were advancing to the semifinals in the men's doubles by trimming the German pair, H. Denker and H. Henkel, 6-1, 13-11, 6-3.

Borotra and Brugnon, the veteran French combine, showed superior team work in eliminating Dic Williams and Sidney Wood, Americans, in the men's doubles, 6-6, 6-2, 6-3. Williams' stamina was not equal to the fast pace the Frenchmen set and Wood couldn't carry the burden alone.

Well, then, why didn't people die when the only antiseptic used on a cut was a squirt of tobacco juice.

GARDNER

Miss Nettie Wood of New Castle called on friends at Gardner on Monday.

Mrs. Saunders is a guest this week at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Woods of Gardner.

Mr. Hahn of New Castle brought his children Eloise, Mary Edith and Joseph, Jr., to call on friends at Gardner on Tuesday.

The Weir family at Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weir and daughters Thelma and Laura and two little boys, Billie and Edison, all went to the tin workers' picnic last Saturday.

Mrs. Norvell Marshall of Gardner had a serious time last week after having a tooth extracted, as it seemed likely that hemorrhage would develop. But this was prevented and now a fast of several days is broken and food can be enjoyed once more.

Mrs. Hammond, mother of Rev. William Hammond, pastor of the Unit Baptist church at Harlansburg, and Gardner's oldest resident went together last Wednesday to the Woman's Mission church which met at the home of Mrs. Clark Cooper near Harlansburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gillespie and Ruthanna, Barbara, James Gilbert and Flossie were recent guests of friends at Gardner. Ruthanna spent a week at the Gardner home and when she left Barbara came and stayed a week. Mrs. DeWitt Bennett of Elwood City came up with Mrs. Gillespie on Monday night.

Dickey Shaffer, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shaffer of Gardner, was born on Christmas day and thus seemed to be cheated out of the usual birthday events of childhood. Therefore he was made very happy on Monday, June 25, when his mother entertained 20 little boys and girls in honor of the day which made him four and one-half years old. The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which a dainty luncheon was served on the lawn. The honor guest received many lovely gifts. Out of town guests were Esther Shaffer of Erie, Erna Jean and Laura Belle Shaffer and Bobby Kerr of New Castle.

By modern photographic methods, dozens of new minor planets are annually being added to the more than 1,200 that are already known.

IT MIXES Better WITH AIR!

Engines "Breathe" like Human Beings...how AIR helps to run your Car!

This simple diagram shows what happens when you "Step on the Gas."

SLIDE INTO YOUR CAR—step on the starter—and in an instant your car begins to "breathe!"

On every other down stroke of the pistons, your engine draws in quantities of air—mixes it with gasoline—and so makes the "gas" that runs your car.

That's the reason Mobilgas has Climatic Control. The weather is constantly changing. It's hot or cold, damp or dry—often on the same day. Ordinarily, these variations in air conditions affect the mixture.

But Climatic Control gives Mobilgas the ability to mix better with air—all kinds of air. Every charge of "gas" that reaches your cylinders is a full-powered, uniform mixture.

Certainly that is what you want from a good gasoline. Why not try Mobilgas soon? You'll find it on sale at all stations that show the Flying Red Horse.

THEY COULDN'T LIVE—if anything happened to the air—your car is just as dependent on air for its "life" and power. In fact—it uses several thousand times as much air as gasoline!

IT'S SURPRISING...the different air conditions you meet on a Sunday afternoon's driving. Every mile can bring a different air condition. And that can mean a different quality to your "gas" mixture.

A WEATHER EXPERT! This engineer in the Socony-Vacuum Laboratories is testing the effect of climate on gasoline. As a result of tests like this, Mobilgas is made to mix better with all kinds of air.

PULL UP AT A MOBILGAS PUMP...and try just one tankful of the gasoline that mixes better with air. You'll find that this means top-notch performance all the time—day or night, rain or shine.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

The resignation of Miss Elizabeth McBane as secretary of the New Wilmington school board was accepted at the regular monthly meeting of the board on Monday night, July 2, because of ill health.

Miss McBane has been secretary of the local board for a large number of years and it was with great regret that the members voted to accept her resignation.

V. C. Minter was appointed to the position left vacant by Miss McBane's resignation.

John Eagleson, last year's mentor of the high school basketball team, was appointed to lead the high school team again this year. He will also teach science and history during the next term.

Members present were Directors Hart, Minter, Williamson and Swindler. Walt Whitman, superintendent of schools was also present.

TO VOTE ON POOL SUPPORT.

At a spirited discussion in the rooms of the fire department on Monday night, New Wilmington Borough Council heard arguments both for and against a donation of money to the New Wilmington Swimming Pool Association. Following the discussion the council went into session and decided to postpone the donation until a vote would be taken in the November election to determine the status of a majority of the electors of the community.

Since the opening of the pool, the borough council has given $800 yearly toward the support of the swimming pool. This they refused to do at their meeting on Monday night. Those in favor of the subscription felt sure of success because of the success of petitions which have been circulated in the village by the voluntary efforts of the town's younger people, and which showed an overwhelming total in favor of council's support.

SURPRISE PARTY.

An avalanche of friends descended upon the home of Robert White, West Newham avenue, on Tuesday night, to wish him many happy returns on his sixteenth birthday.

The party, sponsored by his mother, Mrs. C. B. White, was in the affair of a lawn fete, with multi-colored lights strung between trees on the spacious lawn. Games occupied the attention of the assembled guests while at a later hour the hostess, assisted by Miss Betty White, served a delicious luncheon.

ROTARY MEETS.

GARDNER

Miss Nettie Wood of New Castle called on friends at Gardner on Monday.

Mrs. Saunders is a guest this week at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Woods of Gardner.

Mr. Hahn of New Castle brought his children Elsie, Mary Edith and Joseph, Jr., to call on friends at Gardner on Tuesday.

The Wehr family at Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wehr and daughters Thelma and Laura and two little boys, Billie and Edison, all went to the tin workers' picnic last Saturday.

Mrs. Norvell Marshall of Gardner had a serious time last week after having a tooth extracted, as it seemed likely that hemorrhage would develop. But this was prevented and now a fast of several days is broken and food can be enjoyed once more.

Mrs. Hammond, mother of Rev. William Hammond, pastor of the Unity Baptist church at Harlansburg, and Gardner's oldest resident went together last Wednesday to the Woman's Mission circle which met at the home of Mrs. Clark Cooper near Harlansburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gillespie and Ruthanna, Barbara, James Gilbert and Flossie were recent guests of friends at Gardner. Ruthanna spent a week at the Gardner home and when she left Barbara came and stayed a week. Mrs. DeWitt Bennett of Ellwood City came up with Mrs. Gillespie on Monday night.

Dickey Shaffer, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shaffer of Gardner, was born on Christmas day and thus seemed to be cheated out of the usual birthday events of childhood. Therefore he was made very happy on Monday, June 25, when his mother entertained 20 little boys and girls in honor of the day which made him four and one-half years old. The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which a dainty luncheon was served on the lawn. The honor guest received many lovely gifts. Out of town guests were Esther Shaffer of Erie, Erma Jean and Laura Belle Shaffer and Bobby Kerr of New Castle.

IT MIXES Better WITH AIR!

Engines "Breathe" like Human Beings...how AIR helps to run your Car!

This simple diagram shows what happens when you "Step on the Gas."

SLIDE INTO YOUR CAR—step on the starter—and in an instant your car begins to "breathe!"

On every other down stroke of the pistons, your engine draws in quantities of air—mixes it with gasoline—and so makes the "gas" that runs your car.

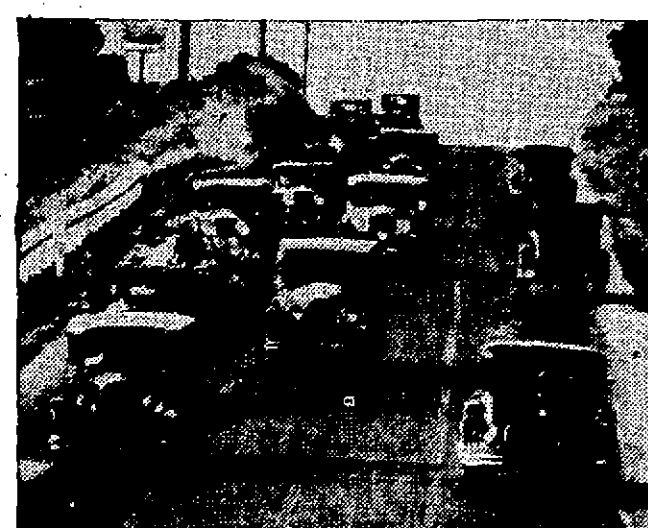

That's the reason Mobilgas has Climatic Control. The weather is constantly changing. It's hot or cold, damp or dry—often on the same day. Ordinarily, these variations in air conditions affect the mixture.

But Climatic Control gives Mobilgas the ability to mix better with air—all kinds of air. Every charge of "gas" that reaches your cylinders is a full-powered, uniform mixture.

Certainly that is what you want from a good gasoline. Why not try Mobilgas soon? You'll find it on sale at all stations that show the Flying Red Horse.

THEY COULDN'T LIVE—if anything happened to the air-bowl! Your car is just as dependent on air for its "life" and power. In fact—it uses several thousand times as much air as gasoline!

IT'S SURPRISING...the different air conditions you meet on a Sunday afternoon's driving. Every mile can bring a different air condition. And that can mean a different quality to your "gas" mixture.

A WEATHER EXPERT! This engineer in the Socony-Vacuum Laboratories is testing the effect of climate on gasoline. As a result of tests like this, Mobilgas is made to mix better with all kinds of air.

PULL UP AT A MOBILGAS PUMP...and try just one tankful of the gasoline that mixes better with air. You'll find that this means top-notch performance all the time—day or night, rain or shine.

NEW WILMINGTON

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.
The resignation of Miss Elizabeth McBane as secretary of the New Wilmington school board was accepted at the regular monthly meeting of the board on Monday night, July 2, because of ill health.

Miss McBane has been secretary of the local board for a large number of years and it was with great regret that the members voted to accept her resignation.

V. C. Minter was appointed to the position left vacant by Miss McBane's resignation.

John Eagleson, last year's mentor of the high school basketball team, was appointed to lead the high school team again this year. He will also teach science and history during the next term.

Members present were Directors Hart, Minter, Williamson and Swindler. Walt Whitman, superintendent of schools was also present.

TO VOTE ON POOL SUPPORT.
At a spirited discussion in the rooms of the fire department on Monday night, New Wilmington Borough Council heard arguments both for and against a donation of monies to the New Wilmington Swimming Pool Association. Following the discussion the council went into session and decided to postpone the donation until a vote would be taken in the November election to determine the status of a majority of the electors of the community.

Since the opening of the pool, the borough council has given $800 yearly toward the support of the swimming pool. This they refused to do at their meeting on Monday night. Those in favor of the subscription felt sure of success because of the success of petitions which have been circulated in the village by the voluntary efforts of the town's younger people, and which showed an overwhelming total in favor of council's support.

The public meeting was profuse with comment, various townspeople contributing their views on the subject. James Crawford, H. R. Patton, Dan McQuiston, Dr. Galbreath, C. B. White, and T. R. Jones all voiced their opinions on the issue at a public discussion held before the council. The council then went into session in which they voted to put the issue before the people in the fall election.

SURPRISE PARTY.
An avalanche of friends descended upon the home of Robert White, West Newhannock avenue, on Tuesday night, to wish him many happy returns on his sixteenth birthday.

The party, sponsored by his mother, Mrs. C. B. White, was in the affair of a lawn fete, with multi-colored lights strung between trees on the spacious lawn. Games occupied the attention of the assembled guests while at a later hour the hostess, assisted by Miss Betty White, served a delicious luncheon.

ROTARY MEETS.
New Wilmington Rotarians gathered for their regular meeting at the Tavern on Monday night. Business occupied the attention of the members, with E. M. Newton, newly chosen president, presiding.

THEY COULDN'T LIVE—if anything happened to the air-hose! Your car is just as dependent on air for its "life" and power. In fact—it uses several thousand times as much air as gasoline!

IT'S SURPRISING...the different air conditions you meet on a Sunday afternoon's driving. Every mile can bring a different air condition. And that can mean a different quality to your "gas" mixture.

A WEATHER EXPERT! This engineer in the Socony-Vacuum Laboratories is testing the effect of climate on gasoline. As a result of tests like this, Mobilgas is made to mix better with all kinds of air.

PULL UP AT A MOBILGAS PUMP... and try just one tankful of the gasoline that mixes better with air. You'll find that this means top-notch performance all the time—day or night, rain or shine.

NEW WILMINGTON

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

The resignation of Miss Elizabeth McBane as secretary of the New Wilmington school board was accepted at the regular monthly meeting of the board on Monday night, July 2, because of ill health.

Miss McBane has been secretary of the local board for a large number of years and it was with great regret that the members voted to accept her resignation.

V. C. Minter was appointed to the position left vacant by Miss McBane's resignation.

John Eagleson, last year's mentor of the high school basketball team, was appointed to lead the high school team again this year. He will also teach science and history during the next term.

Members present were Directors Hart, Minter, Williams and Swindler. Walt Whitman, superintendent of schools was also present.

TO VOTE ON POOL SUPPORT.
At a spirited discussion in the rooms of the fire department on Monday night, New Wilmington Borough Council heard arguments both for and against a donation of monies to the New Wilmington Swimming Pool Association. Following the discussion the council went into session and decided to postpone the donation until a vote would be taken in the November election to determine the status of a majority of the electors of the community.

Since the opening of the pool, the borough council has given $800 yearly toward the support of the swimming pool. This they refused to do at their meeting on Monday night. Those in favor of the subscription felt sure of success because of the success of petitions which have been circulated in the village by the voluntary efforts of the town's younger people, and which showed an overwhelming total in favor of council's support.

SURPRISE PARTY.
An avalanche of friends descended upon the home of Robert White, West Neshannock avenue, on Tuesday night, to wish him many happy returns on his sixteenth birthday.

The party, sponsored by his mother, Mrs. C. B. White, was in the affair of a lawn fete, with multi-colored lights strung between trees on the spacious lawn. Games occupied the attention of the assembled guests while at a later hour the hostess, assisted by Miss Betty White, served a delicious luncheon.

ROTARY MEETS.
New Wilmington Rotarians gathered for their regular meeting at the Tavern on Monday night. Business occupied the attention of the members, with E. M. Newton, newly chosen president, presiding.

LADIES' AID MEETS.
Miss Helen Ramsey proved a most charming hostess to the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church on Tuesday night, July 3, when she entertained at the regular monthly meeting of the organization.

Regular business was transacted and social chat enjoyed. At a later hour, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Anna Miller, served a tempting lunch to the assembled guests.

HAPPY HOUR MEETS.
The generous hospitality of Mrs. William Bell, assisted by Mrs. I. G. Sampson, and Mrs. Roy Thompson, was enjoyed by the members of the Happy Hour Society of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, July 3.

The program consisted of devotionals which were in charge of Mrs. Ben Elliott, while Mrs. Norman Frankenburg conducted the Mission Study.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess and associates.

Teach your daughter how to guard her health

Mother... You Must Do Your Part

Most girls need a tonic and regulator when they come to womanhood. If your daughter is languid, nervous and cranky... if she complains of new pains and aches... see that she takes Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly. When she is a happy, healthy wife and mother she will thank you.

"My daughter Leona is a stenographer and switchboard operator. She was nervous and weak and often had to stay home from work. Never cared to go anywhere, lost her appetite and always had headaches. Your Compound helped her wonderfully. She is more peppy and can work now every day."—Mrs. B. Trommer, 2520 W. Juneau Ave., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

DELAYED GIVING A STATEMENT
TILL HE WAS SURE OF RESULTS

New Castle Man Is Now Sure Vendol Has Corrected Stomach Disorders, Ended The Neuritis And Improved His General Health.

"I started taking Vendol several weeks ago and I could tell very soon that it was helping me, but I waited until I had finished my third bottle to be sure of the results before giving a public statement. There is no doubt in my mind now what a fine medicine Vendol really is," said Mr. Isaac Dutton who is employed in the St. Cloud Building on E. Washington Street. He was giving his experience to the Vendol Man in New Castle Drug Company.

"For several years I have been bothered with neuritis in my shoulders and arms. Sometimes the pains would come from my left hip down to my knee.

"My stomach was upset and during the past several weeks I have taken quantities of baking soda for temporary relief for the gas and bloating. Most everything I ate seemed to turn to acid gas and was very annoying.

"I spent fifteen years in the frozen North in the Klondike gold mines and had built up my resistance against colds and other ailments, but during the past winter my stomach gave me considerable trouble. The fine reports from New Castle people induced me to try Vendol.

"It has cleansed my system and built me up wonderfully. I never take soda any more, yet am free of the gas and sourness and eat my meals with a relish. I feel more energetic, can do my work better and while the neuritis is not entirely gone, the pains are much less. I am highly pleased with Vendol so I gladly recommend it to others."

There is just one reason for taking a medicine, that is to get well. But how many times have you been disappointed? How many half empty bottles have you in your home? You have spent your money with the hopes of getting well of some ailment only to find that the medicine did not fit your case. That is why we ask you to let the Vendol Man explain about this great medicine. So see him today at the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street. Vendol is for sale at our 24 N. Mill Street store also.

She's just a twenty year-old girl, is Dorothy Herbert, who stars in the equestrian numbers of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to New Castle Friday, July 13, but she has founded a new school of sensational riding under the big top.

It is a school of utter recklessness, of spellbinding and breath-taking abandon, combined with masterful horsemanship, dashing grace and sheer young loveliness, for, despite her youth, Dorothy has been riding before the public here and abroad since she was seven. Her father, a world famous horseman and teacher of riding, placed her on a horse when she was three, and she's never missed a day since—that is, an exhibition or training day.

You will see her riding headlong without reins in the van of the ninety equestriennes with The Greatest Show on Earth—taking the highest jumps and the dizziest whirling rears on the hippodrome track of the big show.

Performances of the circus will be given at 2 and 8 p. m., the doors opening one hour earlier to permit leisurely inspection of the mammoth menagerie of more than a thousand rare wild animals.

Mrs. Samuel Insull
Defends Husband

Arrives From Overseas Enroute To Join Him
In Chicago

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 5.—Mrs. Samuel Insull, wife of the former Public Utilities czar, was on her way today to Chicago to be at her husband's side when he goes on trial for alleged fraudulent practices, but before leaving here she unburdened herself of a spirited defense of the aged Insull.

"I think it a virtue—perhaps I should say common sense—in a woman not to express herself on subjects she knows nothing about," she said.

"But I believe implicitly in my husband's innocence. Nothing in the world would shake my confidence in him. There is not a dishonest suggestion in his makeup.

"I liked very much what he said when he arrived here. He said 'my judgment may be discredited, but my honor will be vindicated.'"

Richman Store To Reopen Saturday

Extensively Remodelled And Renovated Since Recent Fire

The Richman Brothers clothing store, which was damaged by fire recently, has been extensively remodeled and will be reopened Saturday with a completely new stock of clothes, direct from their own tailoring shops in Cleveland. The new Richman Brothers store will be located at the same address, 131 East Washington street.

A remarkable feature of the reopening of the Richman Brothers store is the speed with which the insurance claim was settled and the work of reconstruction completed. One day after the fire occurred the Richman Brothers insurance company reached a satisfactory adjustment. The following day contracts for the remodeling work were awarded, and what at first looked like a long drawn out job was completed in record time.

Every bit of the goods damaged in the fire was sold to a salvage company, as it is against Richman Brothers' policy to sell imperfect goods or hold sales of any kind. In 55 years of clothes making Richman Brothers have never held a sale.

Carrier Pigeon Calls At Office;
Is Real Friendly

When carrier pigeons pay you a visit, what should you do? That question puzzled David W. Kay on Tuesday when a friendly feathered messenger—message and all—fluttered right into his East Washington street office and made itself at home. Kay wasn't long in deciding, however, that it might be best to leave the strange guest alone.

Kay reported that for nearly 10 minutes the pigeon, its message protruding from a small band on its leg, scampered about his office. Before it left it became real friendly and perched on his desk as he was going about his work.

The bird was given a drink and then, after a wait of a few minutes more, sailed out the window and away.

ASKS FARMERS TO SAVE GAME BIRDS

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Game Commission officials today asked all farmers to be careful not to mow over nesting game birds.

It is difficult to spot the nests of young creatures, but if they will investigate when they see a bird or animal get out in front of the mower, they will often be able to locate a nest and mow around it.

Most farmers, in their desire to quickly clear their fields, forget that the creatures destroyed are of more value than the tiny space in a hay or grain field where the young are hatched. Bob-whites and quacks are considered invaluable from the standpoint of the destructive insects and grubs they consume, and yet in many sections of the Commonwealth farmers are so engrossed in beautifying their farms, clearing out every semblance of brush, weeds, or other cover from fence rows that it is impossible for birds to find sufficient cover to live.

A hygrometer is an instrument for measuring the quantity of moisture in the atmosphere.

BEAUTY SHOPS TO GET STATE'S 'ONCE OVER'

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Rigid inspection of all beauty culture shops in Pennsylvania is occupying the attention of the entire staff of fifteen inspectors of the Department of Public Instruction. Since the new beauty culture licensing act went into operation April 1 nearly 300 shops and schools of beauty culture have been inspected.

The work will continue through the summer until each of the 7210 registered shops and schools in the State has been checked to see that owners and operators are observing the law and the special rules and regulations drawn by the Department and the Beauticians' Advisory Committee.

The name "lacrosse" was given to the game by the French explorers, from the crosse, or crooked, stick with which it is played.

DELAYED GIVING A STATEMENT TILL HE WAS SURE OF RESULTS

New Castle Man Is Now Sure Vendor Has Corrected Stomach Disorders, Ended The Neuritis And Improved His General Health.

"I started taking Vendol several weeks ago and I tell you very soon that it was helping me, but I waited until I had finished my third bottle to be sure of the results before giving a public statement. There is no doubt in my mind now what a fine medicine Vendol really is," said Mr. Isaac Dutton who is employed in the St. Cloud Building on E. Washington Street. He was giving his experience to the Vendol Man in New Castle Drug Company.

"For several years I have been bothered with neuritis in my shoulders and arms. Sometimes the pains would come from my left hip down to my knee.

"My stomach was upset and during the past several weeks I have taken quantities of baking soda for temporary relief for the gas and bloating. Most everything I ate seemed to turn to acid gas and was very annoying.

"I spent fifteen years in the frozen North in the Klondike gold mines and had built up my resistance against colds and other ailments, but during the past winter my stomach gave me considerable trouble. The fine reports from New Castle people induced me to try Vendol.

"It has cleansed my system and built me up wonderfully. I never take soda any more, yet am free of the gas and sourness and eat my meals with a relish. I feel more energetic, can do my work better, and while the neuritis is not entirely gone, the pains are much less. I am highly pleased with Vendol so gladly recommend it to others."

There is just one reason for taking a medicine, that is to get well. But how many times have you been disappointed? How many half empty bottles have you in your home? You have spent your money with the hopes of getting well of some ailment only to find that the medicine did not fit your case. That is why we ask you to let the Vendol Man explain about this great medicine. So see him today at the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street. Vendol is for sale at our 24 N. Mill Street store also.

Daring Circus Equestrienne Rides Without Reins

She's just a twenty year-old girl, is Dorothy Herbert, who stars in the equestrian numbers of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to New Castle Friday, July 13, but she has founded a new school of sensational riding under the big top.

It is a school of utter recklessness, of spellbinding and breath-taking abandon, combined with masterful horsemanship, dashing grace and sheer young loveliness, for, despite her youth, Dorothy has been riding since she was seven. Her father, a world famous horseman and teacher of riding, placed her on a horse when she was three, and she's never missed a day since—that is, an exhibition or training day.

You will see her riding headlong without reins in the van of the ninety equestriennes with The Greatest Show on Earth—taking the highest jumps and the dizziest whirling rears on the hippodrome track of the big show.

Performances of the circus will be given at 2 and 8 p. m., the doors opening one hour earlier to permit leisurely inspection of the mammoth menagerie of more than a thousand rare wild animals.

"I think it a virtue—perhaps I should say common sense—in a woman not to express herself on subjects she knows nothing about," she said.

"I believe implicitly in my husband's innocence. Nothing in the world would shake my confidence in him. There is not a dishonest suggestion in his makeup.

"I liked very much what he said when he arrived here. He said 'my judgment may be discredited, but my honor will be vindicated.'"

Richman Store To Reopen Saturday

Extensively Remodelled And Renovated Since Recent Fire

The Richman Brothers clothing store, which was damaged by fire recently, has been extensively remodelled and will be reopened Saturday with a completely new stock of clothes, direct from their own tailoring shops in Cleveland. The new Richman Brothers store will be located at the same address, 131 East Washington street.

A remarkable feature of the reopening of the Richman Brothers store is the speed with which the insurance claim was settled and the work of reconstruction completed. One day after the fire occurred the clothing and the insurance company reached a satisfactory adjustment. The following day contracts for the remodeling work were awarded, and what at first looked like a long drawn out job was completed in record time.

Every bit of the goods damaged in the fire was sold to a salvage company, as it is against Richman Brothers' policy to sell imperfect goods or hold sales of any kind. In 55 years of clothes making Richman Brothers have never held a sale.

Carrier Pigeon Calls At Office; Is Real Friendly

When carrier pigeons pay you a visit, what should you do? That question puzzled David W. Kay on Tuesday when a friendly feathered messenger—message and all—fluttered right into his East Washington street office and made itself at home. Kay wasn't long in deciding, however, that it might be best to leave the strange guest alone.

Kay reported that for nearly 10 minutes the pigeon, its message protruding from a small band on its leg, scampered about his office. Before it left it became real friendly and perched on his desk as he was going about his work.

The bird was given a drink and then, after a wait of a few minutes more, sallied out the window and away.

ASKS FARMERS TO SAVE GAME BIRDS

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Game Commission officials today asked all farmers to be careful not to mow over nesting game birds.

It is difficult to spot the nests of young creatures, but if they will investigate when they see a bird or animal get out in front of the mower, they will often be able to locate a nest and mow around it.

Most farmers, in their desire to quickly clear their fields, forget that the creatures destroyed are of more value than the tiny space in a hay or grain field where the young are hatched. Bob-whites and ring-necked pheasants are considered invaluable from the standpoint of the destructive insects and grubs they consume, and yet in many sections of the Commonwealth farmers are so engrossed in beautifying their farms, clearing out every semblance of brush, weeds, or other cover from fence rows that it is impossible for birds to find sufficient cover to live.

A hygrometer is an instrument for measuring the quantity of moisture in the atmosphere.

That is why we ask you to let the Vendol Man explain about this great medicine. So see him today at the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street. Vendol is for sale at our 24 N. Mill Street store also.

"I started taking Vendol several weeks ago and I could tell very soon that it was helping me, but I waited until I had finished my third bottle to be sure of the results before giving a public statement. There is no doubt in my mind now what a fine medicine Vendol really is," said Mr. Isaac Dutton who is employed in the St. Cloud Building on E. Washington Street. He was giving his experience to the Vendol Man in New Castle Drug Company.

"For several years I have been bothered with neuritis in my shoulders and arms. Sometimes the pains would come from my left hip down to my knee.

"My stomach was upset and during the past several weeks I have taken quantities of baking soda for temporary relief for the gas and bloating. Most everything I ate seemed to turn to acid gas and was very annoying.

"I spent fifteen years in the frozen North in the Klondike gold mines and had built up my resistance against colds and other ailments, but during the past winter my stomach gave me considerable trouble. The fine reports from New Castle people induced me to try Vendol.

"It has cleansed my system and built me up wonderfully. I never take soda any more, yet am free of the gas and sourness and eat my

Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon Friday evening in Central Presbyterian church when the services preparatory to the holy communion will be held.

Future Policy Of Nazi Party Is Discussed

Nazi Leaders Gather Near
Dutch Border For Important Conference

ADOLF HITLER IS NOT PRESENT

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 5.—The future course of the Nazi movement in Germany was being charted today, it was understood, in the quiet city of Flensburg, near the Danish border.

There 140 provincial governors and leaders of the national socialist party convened in a conference which was regarded as so significant by Nazi heads that it was being referred to here as the "Munich of the North." A rebirth of the Nazi party, launched years ago at Munich by the then unknown Adolf Hitler, now Chancellor of the Reich, was foretold as the possible outcome of the conference.

Hitler Not Present
Hitler did not attend the Flensburg meeting. His aid and spokesman Rudolf Hess was present, however. So was Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, the Reich's energetic minister of propaganda.

Since the Flensburg gathering was purely political, no violently revolutionary action was anticipated. The congress was expected, however, to effectively purge the party of undesirable radical elements, at least as far as official positions were concerned.

The names of many leaders who lean toward the extremist policies were expected to be missing from the party's roster of officials, and in some cases from the party's membership lists, after the Flensburg gathering.

Chancellor Hitler did not go to

Flensburg, it was believed, because of the acute situation which still prevails in Berlin. Reprisals against the Nazi regime had been officially halted by orders of "Der Fuehrer" himself but there was still much unrest and many pressing problems remaining to be solved.

Discuse Von Papen.
One of the most pressing of these problems was what to do with Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen. Von Papen, the conservative and aristocratic favorite of President Paul von Hindenburg, had become something of a man of mystery.

It was understood that the vice chancellor had decided to take a few days to ponder over his future course. Meantime he was not functioning as an official of the government and even his work as head of the Saar commission was being performed by a deputy, Baron von Keteler.

There was a growing conviction that Von Papen eventually would be relegated to the background of German affairs, either by complete retirement from the cabinet or by appointment to some innocuous post that would deprive him of active influence in government affairs and yet continue the outward appearance of his participation in the government.

Denver Love Market Scandal Involves More

(International News Service)
DENVER, July 5.—Denver's mid-summer "love market" scandal—a story that has already resulted in filing of criminal charges against eight men and one woman following the discovery of a 15-year-old runaway high school girl in an asserted disorderly house—spread today to include the names of more prominent men and several married women.

The girl whose disappearance and discovery two weeks later in the home of Mrs. Vera (Brown) Brinkerhoff, buxom 35-year-old divorcee, precipitated the scandal, revealed to District Attorney Early O. Wetzel the names of men she said visited her while she was an inmate of the "love market."

As a result, charges were filed against Mrs. Brinkerhoff; Simon A. (Sherlock) Holmes of Detroit, a traveling salesman; Don W. Mayne, public service company clerk; Carl Meyer, Denver mortician; George Simon, Jr., Denver manufacturer; John Richardson, a garage owner; Charles Manship, a business man; John Wells, 18-year-old university student, and Tommy Romolo, part owner of a North Denver night club.

Arrest of Holmes in Los Angeles led to strife between the district attorney's office and that of undersheriff J. J. Vick Roy. Wetzel holds a warrant for Holmes, but no funds with which to send a deputy to return him. Vick Roy has the funds, but no warrant.

To Protect State
Property

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Rioting broke out anew here today as the Industrial Association, an organization of business leaders, resumed its operations in opening the port of San Francisco from the disastrous Maritime strike.

As acting Governor Frank F. Merriam stood by in Sacramento ready to call out the National Guard to protect state property, the Industrial Association started moving cargo again from the besieged piers, concentrating on Pier 38, the focal point of Tuesday's initial move to break the strike.

Three trucks, heavily guarded by police and moving along a route lined with officers armed with shotguns, started transporting freight from Pier 38 to the Garcia & Margini warehouse, a run of about a quarter of a mile.

Strongly Assail Action Of Court In Premier's Case

(International News Service)
EDMONTON, Alta., July 5.—A barrage of criticism was leveled at acting Chief Justice W. C. Ives today by George D. Koe, president of the Civil Liberties Protective Association, for his action in reversing the decision of a jury and dismissing the damage suit against John E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, in which pretty Vivian Macmillan sought restitution, claiming she was lured to Edmonton by the premier.

Koe declared, "we wish to enter a formal protest. We might as well go back to kangaroo courts. It is unbelievable."

A six man jury last week awarded Miss Macmillan $10,000 damages, after a sensational trial in which the girl testified that premier told her it was "her patriotic duty" to accept his advances. Her father, A. D. Macmillan, former mayor of Edson, Alta., co-plaintiff, was awarded $5,000 damages.

CAR DAMAGED.
Oscar Thelma, 407 Garfield avenue, reported to police that he had his car parked in South Mill street, and that a car driven by Frank Golis struck and slightly damaged his machine. He reported Golis was turning from East Washington street into South Mill street.

Future Policy Of Nazi Party Is Discussed

Nazi Leaders Gather Near
Dutch Border For Important Conference

ADOLF HITLER IS NOT PRESENT

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 5.—The future course of the Nazi movement in Germany was being charted today, it was understood, in the quiet city of Flensburg, near the Danish border.

There 140 provincial governors and leaders of the national socialist party convened in a conference which was regarded as so significant by Nazi heads that it was being referred to here as the "Munich of the North." A rebirth of the Nazi party, launched years ago at Munich by the then unknown Adolf Hitler, now Chancellor of the Reich, was foretold as the possible outcome of the conference.

Hitler Not Present

Hitler did not attend the Flensburg meeting. His aid and spokesman Rudolph Hess was present, however. So was Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, the Reich's energetic minister of propaganda.

Since the Flensburg gathering was purely political, no violently revolutionary action was anticipated. The congress was expected, however, to effectively purge the party of undesirable radical elements, at least as far as official positions were concerned.

The names of many leaders who lean toward the extremist policies were expected to be missing from the party's roster of officials, and in some cases from the party's membership lists, after the Flensburg gathering.

Chancellor Hitler did not go to

Flensburg, it was believed, because of the acute situation which still prevails in Berlin. Reprisals against the Nazi regime had been officially halted by orders of "Der Fuehrer" himself but there was still much unrest and many pressing problems remaining to be solved.

Discuss Von Papen.

One of the most pressing of these problems was what to do with Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen. Von Papen, the conservative and aristocratic favorite of President Paul Von Hindenburg, had become something of a man of mystery.

It was understood that the vice chancellor had decided to take a few days to ponder over his future course. Meantime he was not functioning as an official of the government and even his work as head of the Saar commission was being performed by a deputy, Baron Von Kettler.

There was a growing conviction that Von Papen eventually would be relegated to the background of German affairs, either by complete retirement from the cabinet or by appointment to some innocuous post that would deprive him of active influence in government affairs and yet continue the outward appearance of his participation in the government.

Denver Love Market Scandal Involves More

(International News Service)

DENVER, July 5.—Denver's mid-summer "love market" scandal—a story that has already resulted in filing of criminal charges against eight men and one woman following the discovery of a 15-year-old runaway high school girl in an asserted disorderly house—spread today to include the names of more prominent men and several married women.

The girl whose disappearance and discovery two weeks later in the home of Mrs. Vera (Brownie) Brinkerhoff, buxom 35-year-old divorcee, precipitated the scandal, revealed to District Attorney Early O. Wetzel the names of men she said visited her while she was an inmate of the "love market."

As a result, charges were filed against Mrs. Brinkerhoff; Simon A. (Sherlock) Holmes of Detroit, a traveling salesman; Don W. Mayne, a public service company clerk; Carl Meyer, Denver mortician; George Simson, Jr., Denver manufacturer; John Richardson, a garage owner; Charles Manship, a business man; John Wells, 18-year-old university student, and Tommy Romolo, part owner of a North Denver night club.

Arrest of Holmes in Los Angeles led to strife between the district attorney's office and that of under-Sheriff J. J. Vick Roy. Wetzel holds a warrant for Holmes, but no funds with which to send a deputy to return him. Vick Roy has the funds, but no warrant.

New Rioting In Strike On Coast

State Militia May Be Called Out
To Protect State
Property

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Rioting broke out anew here today as the Industrial Association, an organization of business leaders, resumed its operations in opening the port of San Francisco from the disastrous Maritime strike.

As acting Governor Frank F. Merriam stood by in Sacramento ready to call out the National Guard to protect state property, the Industrial Association started moving cargo again from the besieged piers, concentrating on Pier 38, the focal point of Tuesday's initial move to break the strike.

Three trucks, heavily guarded by police and moving along a route lined with officers armed with shotguns, started transporting freight from Pier 38 to the Garcia & Margini warehouse, a run of about a quarter of a mile.

Fifteen Thousand At Park Wednesday

Fifteen thousand persons thronged Cascade Park Fourth of July according to Supt. C. C. Coulthard. The night was featured by a display of fireworks which was touched off near the dance pavilion. There were no accidents and only one arrest, a youth having been taken into custody for discharging fireworks. He was freed by Mayor Mayne in police court today.

Strongly Assail Action Of Court In Premier's Case

(International News Service)
EDMONTON, Alta., July 5.—A barrage of criticism was leveled at acting Chief Justice W. C. Ives today by George D. Koe, president of the Civil Liberties Protective Association, for his action in reversing the decision of a jury and dismissing the damage suit against John E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, in which pretty Vivian Macmillan sought restitution, claiming she was lured to Edmonton by the premier.

Koe declared, "we wish to enter a formal protest. We might as well go back to Kangaroo courts. It is unbelievable."

A six man jury last week awarded Miss Macmillan $10,000 damages, after a sensational trial in which the girl testified that the premier told her it was "her patriotic duty" to accept his advances. Austin Company Is Given Right To Borrow Money

Butler Auto Firm May Continue Business On Temporary Basis

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Federal Judge R. M. Gibson gave the American Austin Car Company, Inc., of Butler, court authority to borrow money and continue operations on a temporary basis.

Under the authority the manufacturers of the "midsize" cars may manufacture and sell not more than 1,000 automobiles and negotiate loans not to exceed $30,000 for the purchase of materials and supplies.

The petition of R. O. Gill, president of the firm which has asked permission to reorganize, states that the company has arranged with its dealers for an average price increase of 25 per cent over the average net price which prevailed for the last 1,000 cars sold.

Since 1929, Gill revealed, the company has manufactured and sold 19,003 of the diminutive motor cars. The court further authorized the firm to issue certificates of indebtedness in an amount not to exceed $20,000 principal. July 19 was set as the date for a hearing, on extension of the operating plans.

GERMANY RETURNS TO WAR-TIME ECONOMY

Nazi Regime Results Seen

Hitler Faces Tremendous Economic Problem At Present Time

MANY ARTICLES BEING SUBSTITUTED

By H. R. KNUCKERROCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, by International News Service)

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany is coming slowly out of the nightmare of terror and bullets today to face the fact that at the end of 18 months of the Nazi regime this country has sunk to the level of wartime economy. Storm troop leaders were shot to avoid national Bolshevism, but one time prosperous Germany has already taken on many aspects of the poverty-stricken Soviet Union. While the rest of the world is still striving to get rid of surplus stocks of raw materials this country has stepped twenty years backward and in 1934, at peace, is beginning to suffer the same kind of hardship it endured in 1914 at war.

Substitutes In Use
The German word "ersatz" meaning substitute which became world famous during the war is once more prominent in Germany's vocabulary. Even an incomplete list of substitutes already introduced indicates one category of the reasons for that popular dissatisfaction which has just been whipped to cover under a hail of bullets.

By government orders 200,000 to 300,000 tons of bran are to be milled into Germany's next milling of flour. Flour in current milling must contain 3.4 per cent potato starch and a quantity of dried skimmed milk.

All woolen goods now manufactured must contain 30 per cent shoddy, beginning September 1. It is expected that the government will enforce use in all wool products of 50 per cent artificial chemical fibre. This invention of the dye trust called viskra resembles outing flannel.

Bicycles tires now manufactured may contain but two fifths of a pound of new rubber, the rest is reclaimed rubber. No electric transmission lines may be made of copper any more. Gasoline must contain a large and increasing percentage of benzol from coal and potato alcohol.

Sugar from wood is being used in increasing quantities. The word "ersatz" brings shivers to the German who remembers the wartime blockade but the proposed new law offers tax reductions as a permit to all firms producing substitutes for products normally bought abroad.

Enforced Reductions
These circumstances have been brought about by enforced reduction of German imports due to the catastrophic fall of German exports. Exports fell for many reasons, chief among them the boycott against Hitler, the fact that the mark was too high in value compared to the currency of gold, and world economic warfare.

Panic buying is the initial consequence. As fever brings bright color to the cheeks so panic buying has brought an illusory boom to German trade.

The operation has already bought up virtually all supplies of imported consumption goods especially clothing, shoes and hats. Tailors are doing a land office business as the public rushes to buy the last of pure wool fabrics. Widespread hoarding of all kinds of products especially soap, sugar, and canned goods led the government to threaten penalties to merchants who encourage it by advising to buy in preparation for shortage.

Four Steps
There were four steps in Germany's progress towards a state of blockade. First came government control of foreign currency, second government control of imports, third the government control of raw materials just introduced. Dr. Puppe has just been named vice commissar for raw materials and his first measure is a nationwide census of all raw materials. Every stock of tin, coal and iron, every kind of oil, wheat, every bale of cotton and wool, will be checked in what must be called the biggest inventory taking in history.

When the inventory is finished the government will know whether it will be forced to take the fourth step in the dismal march towards war economy. That step would be control of consumption.

Talk of ration cards this autumn for textiles, perhaps for food goes on despite the official campaign against pessimism. It is unlikely that rationing can be introduced without the direct necessities compel this. Propaganda can say black is white but the black fact of ration cards would be too deep to whitewash.

Yet unless Germany comes to better terms with the outside world her population by all signs today is going to eat less, wear worse clothes, and have less warmth in winter.

Hitler has now given a bloody lesson to the men who helped him put Germany on bad terms with the world. Whether he now can patch up the damage already done is the question Germans now are asking, but privately, very privately and in a whisper.

Report Dillinger Becomes Cripple

Amp's public enemy No. 1, police said today they had killed him by an ex-convict friend of the bandit, is slowly suffering a paralysis of the entire right side as the result of an improperly treated bullet wound in his right thigh.

Police declined to reveal the identity of their informant but indicated they believed the information plausible.

Leis Addresses Wolves Tuesday

Tuesday night in the Castleton members of the Wolves Club held their regular dinner meeting. Carl Leis of the Johnson Bronze Company delivered an interesting address on "Bearings and Lubrication."

The Wolves meet again in two weeks.

NEW BRIDGE AT GROVE CITY
GROVE CITY, July 5.—Construction of a new bridge over Wolf creek at North avenue will be among the bids asked within the next two or three weeks by the county commissioners. It is stated at the office of County Engineer T. P. Graham here.

Every assurance is given that the span will be completed during the autumn as part of the $200,000 PWA program undertaken by the county. The North avenue bridge is the second largest in the 11 county spans for which bids will be asked. It has been in place here since 1896, having been moved here from near Greenville where it had spanned the Little Shenango river for many years prior to that time. Completion of a secondary road leading into Grove City over the street has increased the travel, and it is deemed unsafe for heavy trucks.

If they get a day off for a picnic, they should have another day at home. It isn't nice to scratch in public.

Today

More From Germany.
The Kaiser's Praise.
Heads Still Rolling.
Vatican Resentment.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

STILL THE NEWS is from Germany, everything else divided. Old President Hindenburg congratulates all the survivors. Some of the dead may be better off than the living.

According to Universal Service, Roehm, who had fought at the side of Hitler since the beginning, did not commit suicide. Left with a loaded revolver in his prison cell, he refused to kill himself and, after being given "ten minutes more" was shot down by a firing squad.

THE FORMER KAISER expresses amazement at Hitler's energy and strength. He says Hitler is "stronger than ever."

It is clear the Chancellor does not lack strength of will or swiftness of execution. Before he had seized complete power he predicted "heads will roll." They are rolling, and Hitler's head man, Goebbels, predicts that "more heads will roll."

THE POPE'S GOVERNMENT in the Vatican resents, bitterly, and naturally, the statement that Heinrich Klausner, head of the Catholic Action party in Berlin, has committed suicide. An official of the Vatican recalls that "only recently Klausner made a noble speech in Berlin, Catholics, which was read with deepest satisfaction by the Vatican." The Vatican official, quoted by International News Service, adds:

"We must strongly protest against the attempt to camouflage murder as suicide, since the Catholic religion forbids suicide. Klausner, we believe, would not dream of taking their own lives." The same official said further: "It is deplorable that, not content with killing their adversary, the Brown Shirts threw mud at his noble figure."

THE SHOOTINGS, suicides, arrests and denunciations in Berlin recall days of the French revolution when Mirabeau, treacherously serving the Royalist party, would have been guillotined had not death taken him first; Danton, the intellectual force of the revolution, was executed by Robespierre.

Robespierre in turn was guillotined, his jaw broken so that he could not talk at the last, very painful for a revolutionist. Marat, the last that rose to power, was butchered in his bath by the French girl Charlotte Corday, and at last Napoleon came to put them all at work killing people in other countries, for his glory.

HITLER ANNOUNCES that the soldiers in this troops must be one hundred per cent pure and moral or at least refrain from the vilest forms of degradation. That was not the idea of Napoleon to whom is credited the saying, "The worse the man, the better the soldier. If soldiers are not corrupt, they ought to be made so."

Samuel Johnson said "Every man thinks meanly of himself for not having been a soldier or not having been at sea." If reports from Berlin are correct, no man need think meanly of himself for not having been a soldier of the type that Hitler has been shooting recently.

WHAT IS TO happen? Hitler had built his tower high, stood on the top, while Germany held its peace, or shouted "Heil Hitler!" giving the Nazi salute. That tower appears to be crumbling at the bottom, undermined by inside treachery.

Suppose it falls and Hitler crashes with it, what next? There is only too good reason to fear that savage atrocities and reprisals might ensue.

massacres on a big scale, not only of Germans of Jewish blood, of whom Hitler had tried to make national scapegoats, but also of other Germans guilty of achieving success, or possessing wealth.

In what position would England, France, Italy and the rest of western Europe be, if Germany and Russia should unite, Germany supplying the scientific knowledge, the chemical skill, the perfected industrial equipment, and Russia the power of will that has successfully defied the civilized world while putting through with marvelous success a plan that, at the beginning, was plainly idiotic?

SKINNY FOR YEARS..GAINS 5 FLATTERING LBS. IN ONE WEEK!

Read How Amazing Mineral Concentrate, Free From Drugs Richest in Newer Form of "FOOD IODINE" Is Building Up Thousands of Nervous, Skinny Rundown Folks Where All Else Fails.

"It will be a week this noon since I began using Kelp-a-Malt, and I have gained 5 pounds and feel much better."—Mrs. W. J. S., "Gained 5 pounds the first package. Am very much pleased. I had stomach trouble for years. When I take Kelp-a-Malt I have hearty appetite for everything and suffer no distress. Kelp-a-Malt has banished constipation, which I have had all my life."—D. C. "Gained 8 pounds with one package of Kelp-a-Malt and feel 100% better."—Mrs. W. J. S.

Just a few of the thousands of actual reports that are flooding in from all over the country telling us how this newer form of food iodine is building firm flesh, strengthening the nerves, enriching the blood—purifying vital fluids and making weak, pale, careworn, underweight men and women look and feel years younger. Fine for children too—restores their appetites.

Scientists have recently discovered that the blood, liver and vital glands of the body contain definite quantities of iodine which heretofore has been difficult to obtain. Modern foodstuffs, even fresh vegetables and similarly so-called "good" foods have been found to be often lacking not only in iodine but in all the other essential organic minerals without which strength and health are impossible.

Supplies Newer Form of Food Iodine
Kelp-a-Malt, only recently discovered, contains practically every mineral essential to normal well-being. The most important of all, it is the richest known source of the newer form of food iodine—natural iodine, not made from iodides or other chemicals, which often times prove toxic, cut the same iodine that is present in small quantities in spinach and lettuce. It is the lack of this iodine which experts in medicine say is our foremost national health problem.

Kelp-a-Malt is a sea vegetable concentrate taken from the Pacific Ocean and made available in palatable, pleasant-tasting tablet form. Six Kelp-a-Malt tablets provide more food iodine than 400 pounds of spinach, 1,000 pounds of beef, 1,387 pounds of lettuce. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of beef, 21 pounds of fresh tomatoes—more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than a pound and a half of carrots—sulfur, sodium, potassium and other essential minerals.

Only when you get an adequate amount of these minerals can your food do you any good—can you nourish glands, add weight, strengthen your nerves, increase your vitality and endurance.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Contains no poisons—doesn't cause bloating. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of this time, if you have not gained at least 4 pounds, do not look better, feel better and have more endurance can ever before, the trial is free. Kelp-a-Malt comes in packages of 100 Jumbo size tablets which are 4 to 5 times larger than ordinary size tablets, and cost only a few cents a day to use. Be sure to remember the name—Kelp-a-Malt—tablets—original and genuine kelp and malt tablets. Prescribed and used by physicians. There is nothing else like them so don't accept imitations or substitutes. Get Kelp-a-Malt today. Kelp-a-Malt can be had at New Castle Drug Store.

GERMANY RETURNS TO WAR-TIME ECONOMY

Nazi Regime Results Seen

Hitler Faces Tremendous Economic Problem At Present Time

MANY ARTICLES BEING SUBSTITUTED

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, by International News Service)

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany is coming slowly out of its nightmare of terror and bullets today to face the fact that at the end of 18 months of the Nazi regime this country has sunk to the level of wartime economy. Storm troops were shot to avoid national Bolshevism, but one time prosperous Germany has already taken on many aspects of the poverty-stricken Soviet Union. While the rest of the world is still striving to get rid of its surplus stocks, Germany is now struggling to obtain raw materials. It is expected that this country has stepped twenty years backward and in 1934, at peace, is beginning to suffer the same kind of hardship it endured in 1914 at war.

Substitutes In Use
The German word "ersatz" meaning substitute which became famous during the war is once more prominent in Germany's vocabulary. Even an incomplete list of substitutes already introduced indicates one category of the reasons for that popular dissatisfaction which has just been whipped to cover under a hail of bullets.

By government orders 200,000 to 300,000 tons of bran are to be milled into Germany's next milling of flour. Flour in current milling must contain 3.4 per cent potato starch and a quantity of dried skimmed milk.

All woolen goods now manufactured must contain 30 per cent shoddy. Beginning September 1 it is expected that the government will enforce use in all wool products of 50 per cent artificial fiber.

This invention of the dye trust called vistra resembles outing flannel. Bicycles tires now manufactured may contain but two fifths of a pound of new rubber, the rest is reclaimed rubber.

No electric transmission lines may be made of copper any more. Gasoline must contain a large and increasing percentage of benzol from coal and potato alcohol.

Sugar from wood is being used in increasing quantities. The word "ersatz" brings shivers to the German who remembers the wartime blockade but the proposed new law offers tax reductions as a premium to all firms producing substitutes for products normally bought abroad.

Enforced Reductions
These circumstances have been brought about by enforced reduction of German imports due to the catastrophic fall of German exports. Exports fell for many reasons, chief among them the boycott against Hitler, the fact that the mark was too high in value compared to the currency of gold, and world economic warfare.

Panic buying is the initial consequence. As fear brings bright color to the cheeks so panic buying has brought an illusory boom to German trade. The operation has already bought up virtually all supplies of imported consumption goods especially clothing, shoes and hats. Tailors are doing a land office business as the public rushes to buy the last of pure wool fabrics. Widespread hoarding of all kinds of products especially soap, sugar, and canned goods led the government to threaten penalties to merchants who encourage it by advising to buy in preparation for shortage.

Four Steps
There were four steps in Germany's progress towards a state of blockade. First came government control of foreign currency, second government control of imports, third the government control of raw materials just introduced. Dr. Puppe has just been named vice minister for raw materials and his first measure is a nationwide census of all raw materials. Every stock of tin, coal and iron, every kind of oil, wheat, every bale of cotton and wool, will be checked in what must be called the biggest inventory taking in history.

When the inventory is finished the government will know whether it will be forced to take the fourth step in the dismal march towards war economy. That step would be control of consumption.

Talk of ration cards this autumn for textiles, perhaps for food goes on despite the official campaign against pessimism. It is unlikely that ration cards can be introduced unless the direct necessities compel this. Propaganda can say black is white but the black fact of ration cards would be too deep to whitewash.

Yet unless Germany comes to better terms with the outside world her population by all signs today is going to eat less, wear worse clothes, and have less warmth in winter.

Hitler has now given a bloody lesson to the men who helped him put Germany on bad terms with the world. Whether he now can patch up the damage already done is the question Germans now are asking, but privately, very privately and in a whisper.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—John Dillinger, swagging, blustering, ruthless man-killer, faces the life of a cripple.

Amelia's public enemy No. 1, police said today they had been told by an ex-convict friend of the bandit, is slowly suffering a paralysis of the entire right side as the result of an improperly treated bullet wound in his right thigh.

Police declined to reveal the identity of their informant but indicated they believed the information plausible.

NEW BRIDGE AT GROVE CITY

GROVE CITY, July 5.—Construction of a new bridge over Wolf creek at North avenue will be among the bids asked within the next two or three weeks by the county commissioners. It is stated at the office of County Engineer F. P. Graham here.

Every assurance is given that the span will be completed during the autumn as part of the $200,000 PWA program undertaken by the county.

The North avenue bridge is the second largest in the 11 county spans for which bids will be asked. It has been in place here since 1895, having been moved here from near Greenville where it had spanned the Little Shenango river for many years prior to that time. Completion of a secondary road leading into Grove City over the street has increased the travel, and it is deemed unsafe for heavy trucks.

Today

More From Germany.

The Kaiser's Praise.

Heads Still Rolling.

Vatican Resentment.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

STILL THE NEWS is from Germany, everything else dwindles. Old President Hindenburg congratulates all the survivors. Some of the dead may be better off than the living.

According to Universal Service, Roehm, who had fought at the side of Hitler since the beginning, did not commit suicide. Left with a loaded revolver in his prison cell, he refused to kill himself and, after being given "ten minutes' grace," was shot down by a firing squad.

THE FORMER KAISER expresses amazement at Hitler's energy and strength. He says Hitler is "stronger than ever."

It is clear the Chancellor does not lack strength of will or swiftness of execution. Before he had seized complete power he predicted "heads will roll." They are rolling, and Hitler's head man, Goebbels, predicts that "more heads will roll."

THE POPE'S GOVERNMENT in the Vatican resents, bitterly, and naturally, the statement that Heinrich Klausner, head of the Catholic Action party in Berlin, has committed suicide. An official of the Vatican recalls that "only recently Klausner made a noble speech to Berlin Catholics, which was read with deepest satisfaction by the Vatican."

The Vatican official, quoted by International News Service, adds: "We must strongly protest against the attempt to camouflage murder as suicide, since the Catholic religion forbids suicide. Militants, like Klausner, would not dream of taking their own lives."

The same official said further: "It is deplorable that, not content with killing their adversary, the Brown Shirts threw mud at his noble figure."

THE SHOOTINGS, suicides, arrests and denunciations in Berlin reveal days of the French revolution when Mirabeau, treacherously serving the Royalist party, would have been guillotined had not death taken him first; Danton, the intellectual force of the revolution, was executed by Robespierre.

Robespierre in turn was guillotined, his jaw broken so that he could not talk at the last, very painful for a revolutionist. Marat, the last that rose to power, was butchered in his bath by the French girl Charlotte Corday, and at last Napoleon came to put them all at work killing people in other countries, for his glory.

HITLER ANNOUNCES that the soldiers in this troops must be one hundred per cent pure and moral or at least refrain from the vilest forms of degradation. That was not the idea of Napoleon to whom is credited the saying, "The worse the man, the better the soldier. If soldiers are not corrupt, they ought to be made so."

Samuel Johnson said "Every man thinks meanly of himself for not having been a soldier or not having been at sea." If reports from Berlin are correct, no man need think meanly of himself for not having been a soldier of the type that Hitler has been shooting recently.

WHAT IS TO happen? Hitler had built his tower high, stood on the top, while Germany held its peace, or shouted: "Heil Hitler!" That tower appears to be crumbling at the bottom, undermined by inside treachery.

Suppose it falls and Hitler crashes with it, what next? There is only too good reason to fear that savage atrocities and reprisals might ensue.

massacres on a big scale, not only of Germans of Jewish blood, of whom Hitler had tried to make national scapegoats, but also of other Germans guilty of achieving success, or possessing wealth.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN politically if old Hindenburg proves mistaken in his message to Hitler, "You have saved the German people from grave danger?" Suppose they are not saved?

The former Kaiser says Hitler's power "is now at its highest."

Suppose the next step is the downward plunge. What then?

All serious politicians in Europe ask themselves that question.

THE POPE has abandoned for the time his plan of departure from the Vatican for his cool villa on the heights, and will remain in spite of his seventy-five years, enduring the intense heat of Rome within the Vatican walls. Better informed, perhaps, than any man in Europe, he chooses to remain in touch. England and France worry like a quiet couple with "a burglar downstairs."

GERMANY RETURNS TO WAR-TIME ECONOMY

Nazi Regime Results Seen

Hitler Faces Tremendous Economic Problem At Present Time

MANY ARTICLES BEING SUBSTITUTED

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany is coming slowly out of its nightmare of terror and bullets today to face the fact that at the end of 18 months of the Nazi regime this country has sunk to the level of wartime economy. Storm troops were shot to avoid national Bolshevism, but one time prosperous Germany has already taken on many aspects of the poverty-stricken Soviet Union. While the rest of the world is still striving to get rid of surplus stocks of raw materials this country has stepped twenty years backward and in 1934, at peace, is beginning to suffer the same kind of hardship it endured in 1914 at war.

Substitutes In Use
The German word "ersatz" meaning substitute which became world famous during the war is once more prominent in Germany's vocabulary. Even an incomplete list of substitutes already introduced indicate one category of the reasons for that popular dissatisfaction which has just been whipped to cover under a hail of bullets.

By government orders 200,000 to 300,000 tons of bran are to be milled into Germany's next milling of flour. Flour in current milling must contain 3.4 per cent potato starch and a quantity of dried skimmed milk.

All woolen goods now manufactured must contain 50 per cent shoddy. Beginning September it is expected that the government will enforce use in all wool products of 50 per cent artificial chemical fibre. This invention of the dye trust called vistra resembles outing flannel.

Bicycles tires now manufactured may contain but two fifths of a pound of new rubber, the rest is reclaimed rubber. No electric transmission lines may be made of copper any more. Gasoline must contain a large and increasing percentage of benzol from coal and potato alcohol.

Sugar from wood is being used in increasing quantities. The word "ersatz" brings shivers to the German who remembers the wartime blockade but the proposed new law offers tax reductions as a premium to all firms producing substitutes for products normally bought abroad.

Enforced Reductions
These circumstances have been brought about by enforced reduction of German imports due to the catastrophic fall of German exports. Exports fell for many reasons, chief among them the boycott against Hitler, the fact that the mark was too high in value compared to the currency of gold, and world economic warfare.

Panic buying is the initial consequence. As fever brings bright color to the cheeks so panic buying has brought an illusory boom to German trade. The operation has already bought up virtually all supplies of imported consumption goods especially clothing, shoes and hats. Tailors are doing a land office business as the public rushes to buy the last of pure wool fabrics. Widespread hoarding of all kinds of products especially soap, sugar, and canned goods led the government to threaten penalties to merchants who encourage it by advising to buy in preparation for shortage.

Four Steps
There were four steps in Germany's progress towards a state of blockade. First came government control of foreign currency, second government control of imports, third the government control of raw materials just introduced. Dr. Puppe has just been named vice commissar for raw materials and his first measure is a nationwide census of all raw materials. Every stock of tin, coal and iron, every kind of oil, wheat, every bale of cotton and wool, will be checked in what must be called the biggest inventory taking in history.

When the inventory is finished the government will know whether it will be forced to take the fourth step in the dismal march towards war economy. That step would be control of consumption. Talk of ration cards this autumn for textiles, perhaps for food goes on despite the official campaign against pessimism. It is unlikely that rations can be introduced unless the direct necessities compel this. Propaganda can say black is white but the black fact of ration cards would be too deep to whiten.

Yet unless Germany comes to better terms with the outside world by getting rid of all signs today is going to eat less, wear worse clothes, and have less warmth in winter. Hitler has now given a bloody lesson to the men who helped him put Germany on bad terms with the world. Whether he now can patch up the damage already done is the question Germans now are asking, but privately, very privately and in a whisper.

Report Dillinger Becomes Cripple

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—John Dillinger, swagging, blustering, ruthless man-killer, faces the life of a cripple.

America's public enemy No. 1, police said today they had been told by an ex-convict friend of the bandit, is slowly suffering a paralysis of the entire right side as the result of an improperly treated bullet wound in his right thigh. Police declined to reveal the identity of their informant but indicated they believed the information plausible.

Leis Addresses Wolves Tuesday

Tuesday night in the Castleton members of the Wolves Club held their regular dinner meeting. Carl Leis of the Johnson Bronze Company delivered an interesting address on "Bearings and Lubrication". The Wolves meet again in two weeks.

NEW BRIDGE AT GROVE CITY GROVE CITY, July 5.—Construction of a new bridge over Wolf creek at North avenue will be among the bids asked within the next two or three weeks by the county commissioners, it is stated at the office of County Engineer F. P. Graham here. Every assurance is given that the span will be completed during the autumn as part of the $200,000 FWA program undertaken by the county. The North avenue bridge is the second largest in the 11 county spans for which bids will be asked. It has been in place here since 1896, having been moved here from near Greenville where it had spanned the Little Shenango river for many years prior to that time. Completion of a secondary road leading into Grove City over the street has increased the travel, and it is deemed unsafe for heavy trucks.

Today

More From Germany.

The Kaiser's Praise.

Heads Still Rolling.

Vatican Resentment.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

STILL THE NEWS is from Germany, everything else dwindles. Old President Hindenburg congratulates all the survivors. Some of the dead may be better off than the living.

According to Universal Service, Roehm, who had fought at the side of Hitler since the beginning, did not commit suicide. Left with a loaded revolver in his prison cell, he refused to kill himself and, after being given "ten minutes more," was shot down by a firing squad.

THE FORMER KAISER expresses amazement at Hitler's energy and strength. He says Hitler is "stronger than ever."

It is clear the Chancellor does not lack strength of will or swiftness of execution. Before he had seized complete power he predicted "heads will roll." They are rolling, and Hitler's head man, Goebbels, predicts that "more heads will roll."

THE POPE'S GOVERNMENT in the Vatican resents, bitterly, and naturally, the statement that Heinrich Klausner, head of the Catholic Action party in Berlin, has committed suicide. An official of the Vatican recalls that "only recently Klausner made a noble speech to Berlin Catholics, which was read with deepest satisfaction by the Vatican." The Vatican official, quoted by International News Service, adds:

"We must strongly protest against the attempt to camouflage murder as suicide, since the Catholic religion forbids suicide. Militants, like Klausner, would not dream of taking their own lives."

The same official said further: "It is deplorable that, not content with killing their adversary, the Brown Shirts threw mud at his noble figure."

THE SHOOTINGS, suicides, arrests and denunciations in Berlin recall days of the French revolution when Mirabeau, treacherously serving the Royalist party, would have been guillotined had not death taken him first. Danton, the intellectual force of the revolution, was executed by Robespierre. Robespierre in turn was guillotined, his jaw broken so that he could not talk at the last, very painful for a revolutionist. Marat, the last that rose to power, was butchered in his bath by the French girl Charlotte Corday, and at last Napoleon came to put them all at work killing people in other countries, for his glory.

HITLER ANNOUNCES that the soldiers in this troops must be one hundred per cent pure and moral or at least refrain from the vilest forms of degradation. That was not the idea of Napoleon to whom is credited the saying, "The worse the man, the better the soldier. If soldiers are not corrupt, they ought to be made so."

Samuel Johnson said "Every man thinks meanly of himself for not having been a soldier or not having been at sea." If reports from Berlin are correct, no man need think meanly of himself for not having been a soldier of the type that Hitler has been shooting recently.

WHAT IS TO happen? Hitler had built his tower high, stood on the top, while Germany held its peace, or shouted: "Heil Hitler!" The tower appears to be crumbling at the bottom, undermined by inside treachery.

Suppose it falls and Hitler crashes with it, what next? There is only too good reason to fear that savage atrocities and reprisals might ensue.

massacres on a big scale, not only of Germans of Jewish blood, of whom Hitler had tried to make national scapegoats, but also of other Germans guilty of achieving success, or possessing wealth.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN politically if old Hindenburg proves mistaken in his message to Hitler, "You have saved the German people from grave danger?" Suppose they are not saved?

The former Kaiser says Hitler's power "is now at its highest." Suppose the next step is the downward plunge. What then? All serious politicians in Europe ask themselves that question.

THE POPE has abandoned for the time his plan of departure from the Vatican for his cool villa on the heights, and will remain in spite of his seventy-five years, enduring the intense heat of Rome within the Vatican walls. Better informed, perhaps, than any man in Europe, he chooses to remain in touch. England and France worry like a quiet couple with "a burglar downstairs."

THAT THE HITLER collapse would be followed by horrible violence is only too probable. What would come afterward?

Would extreme "red radicalism" come to the front to take control? Would there be that union of Russia and Germany that many Germans advocated immediately after the signing of the Versailles treaty?

IT IS INTERESTING to read today Russia is lending money to Germany indirectly by buying German exchange for gold, strengthening the mark.

In what position would England, France, Italy and the rest of western Europe be, if Germany and Russia should unite, Germany supplying the scientific knowledge, the chemical skill, the perfected industrial equipment, and Russia the power of will that has successfully defied the civilized world while putting through with marvelous success a plan that, in the beginning, was universally derided?

THERE IS REALLY no important news now except German news, followed closely by every intelligent human being.

At the moment Hitler has the government and the guns in his hands. And troops who have learned from Hitler's 2 o'clock in the morning visit to Munich how quickly and how powerfully he can strike, wonder if they get rid of that "cure" where they would find another leader.

HITLER HAS by no means "gone into hiding." He appears in public, riding through the streets in an open automobile, but "heavily guarded." In Italy where another strong man rules by the right of the mightiest, Hitler's swift and ruthless action is applauded. Those that said Mussolini was the real strong man and Hitler only the imitation may have to change their opinion. Hitler's spokesman warns the dissatisfied "He who conspires against Hitler is playing with his own head." That sort of talk sustains power as long as violence can uphold it. But usually that is not for long. Copyright, 1934, King Features Synd., Inc.

Injured Near Park Entrance

Butler County Youth Sustains Lacerated Hand And Body Bruises

HAND STRIKES AUTO WINDOW

James A. Mesner, aged 16, of West Sunbury, Butler county, received severe lacerations of his hands and body bruises late yesterday afternoon when he attempted to stave off the shock of being struck by the automobile operated by Perry I. Gere, 1230 Randolph street, city, in East Washington street opposite the entrance to Cascade park.

Mesner and a friend, Allen Whitmire, Euclid R. D. 1, Butler county, had been on the north side of East Washington street and started across the highway toward the stone entrance to Cascade park. They got out of the way of one car operating toward Ellwood City and noticed coming from Ellwood City the machine operated by Cere. Whitmire got out of the way but not Mesner.

He shoved out his hands to break whatever shock he might receive when struck by the car and one of his hands plunged through a front window.

Mesner was taken to the office of a local physician and after receiving treatment was able to go to his home.

Two Injured On Ellwood Road

Mr. and Mrs. White Of R. D. 6, City, Injured When Car Upsets

Mr. and Mrs. Howard White, R. D. 6, New Castle, were injured yesterday afternoon in an automobile wreck near Energy on the Ellwood City-New Castle road. White received several fractured ribs and lacerations, and Mrs. White sustained bruises about her shoulders. The car was overturned and damaged considerably.

According to State Highway Patrolman Stoope, John T. Bingle, Fombell, R. D. 1, was operating his car toward New Castle. White was following in his machine. Bingle started to turn right into a private driveway as White started to pass the Bingle car. A car coming from the opposite direction forced White to move back into line and his machine struck that driven by Bingle. White's car overturned. Bingle escaped injury.

No Tetanus Calls; Safe Fourth, Belief

While cannon crackers boomed on the Fourth in different parts of the city, contrary to a city law, it appeared that no serious firecracker injuries were sustained by any of the celebrants.

At least the McKinley and Frantz drug store, licensed by the state as local distributors for tetanus antitoxin, reported that it had received no calls for the powder wound toxin.

If there were firecracker injuries they were probably of an extremely minor kind.

THERE is a public Bell telephone wherever you see this sign. Look for it along the highways on your travels this summer—in city terminals—in country stores—in forest camps.

Wherever you see it, home will be less than a minute away. Telephone, and if you like, just tell the operator to reverse the charge. Calls made for a number (Station to Station calls) cost surprisingly little at any time and offer low Evening and still lower Night Rates.

Just give the number to the operator (ask information if you don't know it) and "hold the line".

Building Now Air Conditioned

Pennsylvania Power Company Installs Installation In Offices

BUILDING KEPT AT EVEN TEMPERATURE

The new conditioning system just completed in the Pennsylvania Power Company offices here is the first installation of its kind in this section. While there are several air conditioning units for offices and homes in New Castle, the power company's system is the first large installation of a commercial nature. It embodies some of the very latest developments in what promises to be one of the most important electrical applications of the future and demonstrates another stride in man's struggle to conquer his environment.

In the power company building four small cabinets around the floor and the outlet of a hidden unit of larger size above the display window, are the only visible evidence of the equipment, and yet the cool, crisp air of the room quickly convinces one of the mighty effect they produce. The engineers will tell you that the heat taken from this room is being poured into the sewer in a constant stream of water. They will also inform you by leading you to the small control panel on the wall, where a red light burns to show that the system is working and show you by the thermometer there that the temperature in the room is actually around 80 degrees. You won't believe this for a moment (because it feels like about 70 degrees) until they explain that the system is steadily removing moisture from the air, to bring you comfort at the high temperature.

You soon find that your sense of temperature is useless to you and that your bodily comfort depends not only on the temperature of air but also on its dryness. The engineers do not want the inside temperature to be more than 10 degrees lower than outside, to avoid the sudden shock you would experience in going in or out.

The control is entirely automatic, producing any condition called for by setting a thermostat. That little control panel, six inches square with its gleaming red light, fascinates you. The flip of a switch and presto—cool and comfort. Even more than that, the system is designed for winter operation as well. Science doesn't stop at keeping you cool in the summer. Heated winter air lacks moisture and is loaded with soot and dust, not only an unpleasant condition but an unhealthy one also. This air conditioner filters out winter dirt and forces the air through fine sprays of water vapor allowing it to absorb what moisture it craves and producing a clean, wholesome atmosphere in winter as well as summer.

Down in the basement of the building, humming away in a businesslike manner, is the compressor that makes all this possible. Here the heat which is brought down from the evaporator units upstairs is transferred to the water covering the compressor, and is drained away into the sewer. Just a simple trick of subtracting heat from a room and carrying that heat away by means of water, but it took a lot of slide-rules and a heap of brains to figure out how to do it.

The effect is wonderful and there is a lot of pleasure in stopping in for a few minutes to cool off. But don't make any bets on the temperature because it will fool you every time.

The officials of the Pennsylvania Power Company have announced that the public is cordially invited to inspect the installation.

CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. July 4: 10 arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness and disorderly conduct 2; drunkenness 4; violating parking ordinance 3 and complaint of wife, 1.

Some days ago it was pointed out in this column that autoists and pedestrians should exercise extreme caution near the lower entrance to Cascade Park in East Washington St. Yesterday afternoon occurred there and the injured West Sunbury lad, James Mesner, has a severely lacerated hand. He attempted to cross the road and in trying to break the shock of being struck by a car shoved out his hands and one of them went through a car window.

Mayor Mayne discharged Budd and "Colonel" Hamilton and also Alex and George Bunnell yesterday morning upon payment of a $10.00 fine. They had engaged in a "Battle of Buns" Monday night in East Washington street. It was a prank that cost them far more than what the buns were worth.

It is not probable that any fire whistle will be arranged for here although the Volunteer Firemen some time ago offered a suggestion that one be provided so that they would know when their services were needed. Two paid department trucks reply to all alarms it is said.

Several weeks ago a young man went to sleep in a doorway and when he awakened not only his money but a watch was missing. He did not care for the money but did care about losing the watch because it had been given him by his mother. A few days ago it was retrieved by City Detective Moore in a pawnshop where the thief, identity as yet unknown had pawned it. The watch has been returned to its owner.

Some days ago it was pointed out in this column that motorists and pedestrians should exercise extreme caution near the lower entrance to Cascade Park in East Washington St. Yesterday an accident occurred there and the injured West Sunbury lad, James Mesner, has a severely lacerated hand. He attempted to cross the railroad tracks and try to break the shock of being struck by a car shoved out his hands and one of them went through a car window.

Mayer Wayne discharged Budd and "Colonel" Hamilton and also Alex and George Bunnell yesterday morning upon payment of a $10.00 fine. They had engaged in a "Battle of Buns" Monday night in East Washington street. It was a prank that cost them far more than what the buns were worth.

It is not probable that any fire whistle will be arranged for here although the Volunteer Firemen some time ago offered a suggestion that one be provided so that they would know when their services were needed. Two paid department trucks reply to all alarms it is said.

He did not care for the money but did care about losing the watch because it had been given him by his mother. A few days ago it was retrieved by City Detective Moore in a pawnshop where the thief, identity as yet unknown had pawned it. The watch has been returned to its owner.

Official Offers To

EDMONTON, Alta., July 5.—Resignation of John E. Brownlee as premier of Alberta, carrying with it the resignation of his entire cabinet, was submitted to a caucus of the United Farmers' party.

The resignation followed the damage award against the premier made last Saturday night as a result of the charge of Vivian MacMillan, government stenographer, that Brownlee had lured her to Edmonton and engaged in an affair with her over a period of two and a half years.

Since the resignations were to the party caucus, they are not yet official and will not be until they reach the lieutenant governor. No successor to Brownlee has been named.

Pennsylvania Power Company Installs Installation In Offices

BUILDING KEPT AT EVEN TEMPERATURE

The new conditioning system just completed in the Pennsylvania Power Company offices here is the first installation of its kind in this section. While there are several air conditioning units for offices and homes in New Castle, the power company's system is the first large installation of a commercial nature. It embodies some of the very latest developments in what promises to be one of the most important electrical applications of the future and demonstrates another stride in man's struggle to conquer his environment.

In the power company building four small cabinets around the floor and the outer of a hidden unit of larger size above the display window, are the only visible evidence of the equipment, and yet the cool, crisp air of the room quickly convinces one of the mighty effect they produce. The engineers will tell you that the heat taken from this room is being poured into the sewer in a constant stream of water. They will also astonish you by leading you to the small control panel on the wall, where a red light burns to show that the system is working and show you by the thermometer there that the temperature in the room is actually around 80 degrees. You won't believe this for a moment (because it feels like about 70 degrees) until they explain that the system is steadily removing moisture from the air, to bring you comfort at the high temperature.

You soon find that your sense of temperature is useless to you and that your bodily comfort depends not only on the temperature of air but also on its dryness. The engineers do not want the inside temperature to be more than 10 degrees lower than outside, to avoid the sudden shock you would experience in going in or out.

The control is entirely automatic, producing any condition called for by setting a thermostat. That little control panel, six inches square with its gleaming red light, fascinates you. The flip of a switch and presto—cool and comfort. Even more than that, the system is designed for winter operation as well. Science doesn't stop at keeping you cool in the summer. Heated winter air lacks moisture and is loaded with soot and dust, not only an unpleasant condition but an unhealthy one also. This air conditioner filters out winter dirt and forces the air through fine sprays of water vapor allowing it to absorb what moisture it craves and producing a clean, wholesome atmosphere in winter as well as summer.

Down in the basement of the building, humming away in a businesslike manner, is the compressor that makes all this possible. Here the heat which is brought down from the evaporator units upstairs is transferred to the water covering the compressor, and is drained away into the sewer. Just a simple room of subtracting heat from a room and carrying the heat away by means of water, but it took a lot of slide-rules and a heap of brains to figure out how to do it.

The effect is wonderful and there is a lot of pleasure in stopping in for a few minutes to cool off. But don't make any bets on the temperature because it will fool you every time. The officials of the Pennsylvania Power Company have announced that the public is cordially invited to inspect the installation.

PREMIER RESIGNS AFTER VERDICT

Looser In Girl's Suit, Canadian Official Offers To Quit Office

EDMONTON, Alta., July 5.—Resignation of John E. Brownlee as premier of Alberta, carrying with it the resignation of his entire cabinet, was submitted to a caucus of the United Farmers' party.

The resignation followed the damage award against the premier made last Saturday night as a result of the charge of Vivian MacMillan, government stenographer, that Brownlee had lured her to Edmonton and engaged in an affair with her over a period of two and a half years.

Since the resignations were to the party caucus, they are not yet official and will not be until they reach the lieutenant governor. No successor to Brownlee has been named.

New York Teams Stand Out Front

Both Teams Are Confidently Claiming The Pennant In Their League

MOST OTHER TEAMS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

By GENE LAWRENCE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—The experts soothsayers and what-nots would have you believe that the teams which are leading the two major leagues when July 4th comes around are almost certain to be the eventual winners of the coveted pennants which probably accounts for the fact that the two New York Clubs, the Yankees and the Giants are confidently claiming pennants this morning.

When the holiday smoke of battle had cleared away Pop Knickerbocker's young men enjoyed comfortable leads in both the national and American circuits. The Giants enjoy a three game advantage over the second place Chicago Cubs, while in the American loop the Yankees are about one and one half games ahead of these amazing Tigers.

The champion Giants were superb as they administered a double trouncing to the Boston Braves before a crowd of 42,500 at the polo grounds. The scores were 9 to 1 and 15-0, convincing enough counts in any loop. In the first game Fred Fitzsimmons was in rare form and otherwise conducted himself with department. Carl Embel had a five hit shutout in the nightcap while his mates pounded three Boston hurriers for 18 bingles, including two homers by Mel Ott and another round tripper by the astonishing master O'Doul.

At Philadelphia the Dodgers took the first game 8 to 5, thanks to a stirring ninth inning rally and good pitching by Emil Leonard. The Phillies however, just ran over their opponents in the second tilt, winning 11 to 2 and pounding pitchers Beck and Carroll to a fare-the-well. Only two home runs were made in the twin bill, by Sam Leslie and Johnny Frederick.

Those arch rivals the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs split a double-header before a holiday crowd of 25,000 in St. Louis. Tex Carleton let the Cubs down with six hits to take the opener for the Cards, 6 to 2, but big Jim Weaver hurled splendidly in the second game and the Cubs got revenge by an identical score.

The other two national league Clubs, the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates likewise split a double bill. The Pirates took the morning game, 5 to 1, thanks to 7 hits pitching by Larry French while the Reds copped the nightcap 4 to 3, as a direct result of good pitching by Paul Derringer.

An enthusiastic Boston crowd of 35,000 saw the rejuvenated Red Sox and the Yankees divide a holiday card, the Sox taking the first game 8 to 5, behind Wes Ferrell and Fred Ostermueller, and losing the second, 10 to 4 when Jimmy Doherty, Yank rookie, unleashed a hit classic.

The Detroit Tigers kept on the Yankee's heels by splitting a double header with the Cleveland Indians before a 40,000 crowd at Detroit. The Tigers dropped the first game 8 to 6, but came back to take the second, 5 to 2.

In Washington the staggering Senators staggered a bit, more and took a pair of wallopings from the Philadelphia Athletics 10-9 and 6-3. Jimmy Foss hit his 24th homer in the first battle.

Two nip and tuck struggles were staged by the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox in Chicago.

In the first game Dick Coffman, Brown right-hander, held the Sox in two singles and shut them out, 4 to 0. Thanks to Les Tite's pitching the Sox took the final 3 to 2.

New York Teams Stand Out Front

Both Teams Are Confidently Claiming The Pennant In Their League

MOST OTHER TEAMS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

By GENE LAWRENCE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—The experts soothsayers and what-nots would have you believe that the teams which are leading the two major leagues when July 4th comes around are almost certain to be the eventual winners of the coveted pennants which probably accounts for the fact that the two New York Clubs, the Yankees and the Giants are confidently claiming pennants this morning.

When the holiday smoke of battle had cleared away Pop Knickerbocker's young men enjoyed comfortable leads in both the national and American circuits. The Giants enjoy a three game advantage over the second place Chicago Cubs, while in the American loop the Yankees are about one and one half games ahead of those amazing Tigers.

The champion Giants were superb as they administered a double trouncing to the Boston Braves before a crowd of 42,500 at the polo grounds. The scores were 9 to 1 and 15-0, convincing enough counts in any loop. In the first game Fred Fitzsimmons was in rare form and otherwise conducted himself with deportment. Carl Hubbell hurled a five hit shutout in the nightcap while his mates pounded three Boston hurlers for 18 bingles, including two homers by Mel Ott and another round tripper by the astonishing master O'Doul.

At Philadelphia the Dodgers took the first game 8 to 5, thanks to a stirring ninth inning rally and good pitching by Emil Leonard. The Phillies however, just ran their opponents in the second tilt, winning 11 to 2 and pounding pitchers Beck and Carroll to a fare-the-well. Only two home runs were made in the twin bill, by Sam Leslie and Johnny Frederick.

Those arch rivals the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs split a double-header before a holiday crowd of 25,000 in St. Louis. Tex Carleton let the Cubs down with six hits to take the opener for the Cards, 6 to 2, but big Sam Weaver hurled splendidly in the second game and the Cubs got revenge by an identical score.

The other two national league Clubs, the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates likewise split a double bill. The Pirates took the morning game, 5 to 1, thanks to 7 hits pitching by Larry French while the Reds copped the nightcap 4 to 3, as a direct result of good pitching by Paul Derringer.

Ryantown Splits With Colonials

Colonials Take Morning Game 3 To 2, And Lose In Afternoon 8 To 7

Ryantown, National league champions the first half of the season played two exhibition games with the Colonial A. C. of the American league yesterday and split even. The Colonial took the morning game at the Colonial Field 3 to 2 with Thornton hurling against Hartman and Hill and having the better of the argument.

In the afternoon tilt at Ryantown the teams battled ten innings before the Ryantowners could put over the winning run, which came when T. Maher slashed a double to deep center that scored Bunnell with the winning ticket. Hill hurled the afternoon game and gave up nine hits. The Ryantowners got to Todd for nine hits and had only two hits off of Shoaff.

Herno, Henry and T. Maher were the batting stars of the game.

THERE'S some tall grafting going on out at Frank (Fleetwing) Dewberry's camp. One of the boys, emulating Burbank, has grafted a watermelon vine on a peach tree and a gooseberry bush on an apple tree, and is figuring on splicing a few eggs on a ham tree. He says he wants to be able to go out in the yard and pick a mess of ham and eggs for his May but she says she would be more satisfied if he would dry the dishes for her once in a while. 11-6

Six Hundred Men At Work

Rushing Work On RWD Projects In Lawrence County

Slightly more than 600 men are at work today on the RWD program, Assistant Director Carl L. Leathers announced. With the allocation of $40,000 for Lawrence county for July it was possible to enlarge the number of men employed and this was done.

Each project will be carried on this month with the idea in mind that it will finish on July 31. There will probably be no RWD at all during the month of August and by September 1 it is planned to open up a fall program designed along lines that will be a combination of both CWA and RWD.

The headquarters of the RWD which have been in the Greer block on North Mercer street for several months are being removed to the office of the Emergency Relief board on South Jefferson street. The auditing force has already been moved down with the operating staff still in the Greer block.

The plan is to consolidate the Emergency Relief board with the RWD offices here so that when the new program opens on September 1 all activities of the relief board, whether direct relief or work relief will function through the old Jefferson hotel headquarters on South Jefferson street.

Leathers Sends His Resignation

Assistant Director Of RWD To End Services On July 31

In a letter to Eric H. Biddle, state director of the Emergency Relief board, Carl L. Leathers, assistant director of the RWD for Lawrence county today presented his resignation to take effect July 31. Mr. Leathers has been with the RWD since its inception and some time ago was appointed assistant to the director, L. B. Round. Since Mr. Round's resignation Mr. Leathers has been handling the work of the director.

In his letter to Mr. Biddle, Mr. Leathers refers to inference to attempts by those higher up to discredit the work done here by Mr. Round. In this respect he says, "to preserve his (Round's) operations spotless he has continually fought, but against the machinations of those in authority he probably feels himself impotent. In other words, what is the use of conducting a decent, honest and intelligent operation when those who thrust the burden on him connive to discredit the work."

Old Tow-Boat Is Destroyed Today By Raging Flames

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Veteran of many years' service on the Ohio river, the tow-boat, Old Reliable, was blazing toward its destruction on the river, below the McKees Rocks bridge, today.

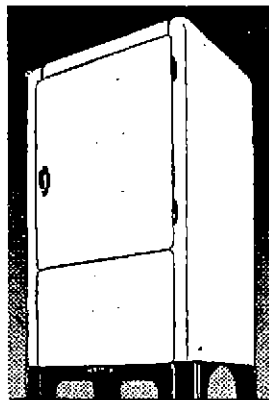

Flames were shooting through the hold and both decks of the ancient boat, as no effort was made to fight the blaze. The crew escaped when the craft was run ashore.

Motorists along the river boulevard stopped to watch the blazing hulk, as the flames shot heavenward in the spectacular fire.

Sets Aside Verdict Against Premier

Justice Nullifies Verdict Given Against Canadian Official

EDMONTON, Alta., July 5.—The jury's verdict, assessing $15,000 against Premier J. E. Brownlee in Vivian MacMillan's suit charging that he had seduced her was set aside today by Justice W. C. Ives, who presided at the trial of the case.

Justice Ives gave a judgment in the Alberta supreme court which dismissed the suit of the girl, a former government stenographer, and her father Allan MacMillan.

The action means that Miss MacMillan and her father will have no claim on the premier for the sums of $10,000 and $5,000 awarded them respectively, unless they can successfully prosecute an appeal. Their plans were not announced.

Justice Ives ruled that no damage to the girl or her father as a result of the alleged seduction had been shown.

Six Hundred Men At Work

Rushing Work On RWD Projects In Lawrence County

Slightly more than 600 men are at work today on the RWD program, Assistant Director Carl L. Leathers announced. With the allocation of $40,000 for Lawrence county for July it was possible to enlarge the number of men employed and this was done.

Each project will be carried on this month with the idea in mind that it will finish on July 31. There will probably be no RWD at all during the month of August and by September 1 it is planned to open up a fall program designed along lines that will be a combination of both CWA and RWD.

The headquarters of the RWD which have been in the Greer block on North Mercer street for several months are being removed to the offices of the Emergency Relief board on South Jefferson street. The auditing force has already been moved down with the operating staff still in the Greer block.

The plan is to consolidate the Emergency Relief board with the RWD offices here so that when the new program opens on September 1 all activities of the relief board, whether direct relief or work relief will function through the old Jefferson hotel headquarters on South Jefferson street.
